Soviet Admits Defeat in War Is Possibility

U.S. Analyst Finds New Trend in Red Military Thinking

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the first time the Soviet Union is frankly facing up to the possibility it could be defeated in a war, an Air Force analyst concludes after a study of Russian military writings.

Further, he finds that the Soviet high command is not of one mind on nuclear age strategy. Russian military conservatives, he says, "regard the nuclear rocket only as a new and important addition to the armament locker."

"The radicals call it 'decisive' in the sense that it reduces, or eliminates, the need for other weapons."

Lt. Col. Murray Green, the Air Force's associate chief of research and analysis, reached these conclusions in an analysis of the first comprehensive discourse on military doctrine to appear in the Soviet Union since 1926.

The book, entitled "Military Strategy," is a compilation of military writings of 15 high-ranking officials, including Soviet Marshal V. D. Sokolovsky, who also was the study's editor.

It was issued last year in a first edition of 20,000 copies, all of which were sold almost immediately.

In his analysis made available to The Associated Press, Green points out the book is packed with doctrinal contradictions due to the authors' diverse military theories. But, he says, the book must be taken seriously as a reflection of Soviet military thinking "despite its shortcomings."

"Military Strategy" has done more than any other book "to encourage realism in the Soviet Union about nuclear war," writes Green.

It concedes the possibility of civilian casualties "in the tens of millions" and has this to say about battlefield casualties:

"It is possible that entire subdivisions, units and even (army) groups will be destroyed. However, this should not have any bearing on the speed of operations."

Green figures this means "the Soviets expect to fight to win. They have not succumbed to the defeatism which argues that destruction will be so great as to make pointless a need to prosecute the war in the most vigorous way possible."

U.S. Weather Mostly Mild

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was a little cool and wet in some spots but generally mild, pleasant weather covered most of the nation today.

Thunderstorms rumbled across areas in the Dakotas, Nebraska and Iowa. Hail pelted some sections and tornado winds were reported Friday night in the area of Randall, Iowa, north of Des Moines.

The heavy drought-breaking rains that hit Florida tapered off considerably. More than five inches of rain doused Boca Raton. More showers sprinkled areas in the Northwest, including northern California.

Cool air persisted in Maine, with temperatures in the 30s, and from areas in the Pacific Northwest eastward to northern Minnesota, with readings mostly in the 40s. Temperatures ranged into the 60s northward to parts of Nebraska, Michigan, Illinois and New York.

6 Retarded Children Are Victims of Fire

ROCKFILL, Ind. (AP)—Six of eleven youngsters in a home for retarded children suffered fatal burns Friday night as flames from burning clothes in an electric dryer spread through the 75-year-old building.

Five died in the fire, and a sixth died of burns early today. Five others also suffered burns as volunteers and firemen carried them out of the Johnson Home for the Retarded. One escaped unharmed.

"Those children didn't have a chance," one fireman said.

Haiti on Brink Of New Explosion

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Neighboring Haiti teetered on the brink of a new explosion today as President Francois Duvalier declared martial law and imposed a strict 8 p.m. to 5 a.m. curfew.

No reason was given for the measures announced Friday night. Haitians feared swift new reprisals from Duvalier, tightening his hold on the impoverished Negro republic to head off a threatened revolt May 15.

Reports reaching Santo Domingo through the Duvalier censorship said informed circles in Haiti spoke of more killings and reprisals than was commonly believed.

They coincided with reports from U.S. sources in Washington that Duvalier has mounted a reign of terror, including murder, torture, arrests, and purges of military officers.

Unconfirmed reports from Port au Prince, the Haitian capital, said Duvalier's underground opponents hurled a bomb that failed to explode at a water installation Thursday night. But travelers from Port au Prince said they had no evidence to support rumors of a large-scale clash inside Haiti.

Duvalier declared martial law soon after the inter-American peace mission seeking to cool off threats of a Haiti-Dominican clash had left Port au Prince Thursday night.

The peace mission from the Organization of American States won assurances from the Duvalier government that Haiti would protect foreign embassies and the rights of Haitians who had taken asylum in them.

Five who took refuge in the Spanish embassy were supposed to be flown out of Haiti Friday but arrived at the airport too late to catch their scheduled flight.

Plans now call for the five in asylum at the Spanish embassy and 15 of the 35 in the Dominican embassy to leave today. There was no word on when the 15 of 22 in asylum at the Dominican embassy will receive safe conduct passes. Seven there are to be transferred to the Colombian embassy.

The unrest in Haiti touched off the trouble with the Dominican Republic, which shares the Caribbean island of Hispaniola with Haiti.

News Briefs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A sudden surge in monthly admissions to Girls' Industrial School at Delaware has been experienced since late fall, a State Juvenile Division official says.

The increase has been from about 25 girls admitted a month to approximately 50, the division's deputy chief, George W. Miles, said. Talks with judges and research by the division have not established exact reasons for the increase, he added.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Two buildings designed to change Columbus' downtown skyline — one under construction and the other delayed since April by legal obstacles—will be subjects of conferences in the coming week. Both sites are within a block of the Statehouse.

Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe says use of School Employees Retirement System funds in both projects must meet legal requirements. The conferences will attempt to iron out Saxbe's objections. The 22-story Columbus Plaza Motel is under construction, and the other is a proposed 20-story office building.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio surgeons favor health insurance, but feel it should be controlled locally, the president of the Ohio State Surgical Association, Dr. Warren C. Harding II, says.

Dr. Stephen Ondash of Youngstown, who joined Harding on a panel Friday at the group's annual meeting, said association members are being urged to "educate their patients to select a realistic type of coverage" from the many kinds available.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Firemen entering a burning two-story frame duplex home on the city's north side Friday night discovered the remains of Chester Kennard Kimberling, 40.

Firemen said Kimberling's brother, Ohio, related that he had left Chester sleeping on a couch in a downstairs living room and gone out. The victim evidently lit a cigarette and fell asleep.

ST. MARYS, Ohio (AP)—An Army private home on leave was killed and two companions injured seriously today. Their automobile left a county road north of New Bremen and rolled over.

Pfc. Lincoln E. Temple, 20, of St. Marys, home from Ft. Belvoir, Va., was killed.

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP)—Neighbors found Stephen Buzzo, 81, a retired truck farmer, and his wife, Mary, 90, dead in their house at North Baltimore Friday, victims of fumes from an unvented heater.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—More than 100 persons launched a drive Friday to put Ohio's support behind Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater for the 1964 Republican nomination for president.

Pep. John M. Ashbrook, Republican from Johnstown, said he feels Goldwater has a good chance of defeating Democrat President John F. Kennedy—if Goldwater can get the GOP nomination.

Dr. N. B. Livingston Jr. of Columbus chairman of the Goldwater drive here, said meetings will be held about every six weeks between now and the May 1964 primary in Ohio when delegates will be chosen for the Republican national convention.

'Thousands' May Be Jailed In Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — New massive racial demonstrations were promised by Negro integration leaders today—a vow made in the wake of a day in which surging throngs were repulsed by police dogs and streams of water from fire hoses.

"Yesterday was D-Day in Birmingham," Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., leader of the integration drive in this Deep South industrial center, said Friday night. "Tomorrow will be Double D-Day."

King, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, made the statement at a mass meeting of more than 1,000 persons at a Negro church.

"There might be thousands arrested," King said earlier. "Demonstrations will continue on a large scale. We feel they will have to continue until there is some response from the merchants."

The massed marchers Friday included hundreds of praying, chanting teenagers. Five Negroes said they either were bitten by the leashed police dogs or were injured by the high-pressure streams of water from fire hoses.

The number of demonstrators taken into custody in the month-old drive to desegregate public facilities is now nearly 1,400.

King called a mass meeting of Negro school children this morning to organize further demonstrations.

"Don't worry about your children who are in jail," the Negro leader said at Friday night's gathering. "They are being treated right because they are political prisoners. . . . The eyes of the world are on Birmingham."

"We're going on in spite of dogs and fire hoses. . . . We've gone to far to turn back now."

U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said in Washington that he had been in contact with Negro and white leaders of Birmingham throughout Friday.

"I believe that everyone understands that their just grievances must be resolved," the attorney general said. "Continued refusal to grant equal rights and opportunities to Negroes makes increasing turmoil inevitable."

"However, the timing of the present demonstrations is open to question. School children participating in street demonstrations is a dangerous business. An injured, maimed or dead child is a price that none of us can afford to pay."

Thugs Turn Office Into Nudist Camp

NEW YORK (AP)—It was not just another holdup. There were some things missing that took it out of the ordinary.

Two robbers got $3,000 Friday from the Zenobia Co., pistachio nut importers, with offices in lower Manhattan.

But the thieves did more than strip the till.

When the owner, John Germaek, 62, returned from lunch, he found six office employees, including three young women, standing there in the all-together.

"What the hell is going on here?" Germaek asked.

He found out quickly enough. The gunmen made him doff his dress, too, before fleeing with the firm's payroll.

Outer Space Exploration Agreement Chances Dim

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Prospects of U.S.-Soviet cooperation in exploring outer space dimmed today.

A 28-nation U.N. subcommittee failed to agree on a legal code governing peaceful uses of outer space. The group ended three weeks of discussion Friday by issuing only a summary of its work.

The United States and the Soviet Union had agreed to cooperate in space experiments involving weather satellites and communications. But the Russians have hinted scientific cooperation may be affected if there is no agreement on a legal code.

Dem Scoffs at GOP Claim Of Big Cuts in JFK Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Republican Congressional Committee claimed credit today for cuts of nearly $1.2 billion in President Kennedy's budget—and promptly drew a Democratic rebuttal.

"A grandstand play," commented Chairman Clarence Cannon, D-Mo., of the House Appropriations Committee.

The GOP claim for all 1963 budget-cutting to date was made in the committee's weekly newsletter.

"Pressing their battle for economy," the letter read, "House Republicans have already cut nearly $1.2 billion from New Frontier spending requests for fiscal 1964 and came close to lopping off another $1.6 billion."

The Republicans took credit for a cut of $420 million in the foreign aid program, $150 million in the Treasury-Post Office appropriations bill, $92 million from Interior Department funds, $203 million from a supplemental appropriation bill; and $309.5 million from the Welfare Department's 1964 money allowance.

"I can't imagine where they came close to cutting off the additional $1.6 billion," Cannon told a reporter, "and they certainly have no valid claim to the other cuts."

The Missourian pointed out that the annual foreign aid money bill has not even been considered by Congress, but was reduced $420 million by the President himself.

Most of the other reductions for which the Republicans took credit, Cannon said, were made originally by the Democratic-dominated Appropriations Committee and were upheld by the Democratic-controlled House.

Sailor, 70, Plans Solo Raft Voyage

PORT NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — William Willis of New York, a mariner of 70 with the adventurous spirit of a 17-year-old, has taken ship in preparation for a 10,000-mile solo raft voyage.

Willis left Friday aboard the S.S. Santa Margarita with his raft "Age Unlimited," which he plans to sail across the Pacific from Callao, Peru, to Australia.

In 1954 Willis sailed 7,000 miles on a raft from Callao to the island of Samoa. That raft was of wood. His present one, 32 by 20 feet in size, is steel.

"We'll be under way by the first week in June and we should be in Australia by September," he said before embarking.

"We" includes a cat and dog for company.

Billy Graham Reads Rites for Daughter

MONTREUX, Switzerland (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham Friday pronounced his eldest daughter Virginia the wife of Stephan Tchividjian, 23, one of his most active Swiss converts.

In a picturesque 500-year-old church overlooking Lake Geneva, Graham officiated at the wedding of Virginia, 17, to the son of a Swiss financier of Armenian origin.

The afternoon wedding was before 300 guests from the United States and many European countries.

Graham's associate, Cliff Barrows, Modesto, Calif., opened the ceremony to permit Graham to give Virginia away as her father before taking over the wedding as minister.

Once Around Roundtown

MAIL OFTEN comes in strange ways. . . . Even to Circleville Postmaster Charles Walters. . . . Several days ago Postmaster Walters received a letter from his son, Lt. (JG) E. C. Walters, who was on aircraft carrier duty in the Mediterranean Sea. . . . But it didn't arrive here by altogether conventional means. . . .

On the night of April 5, Lt. Walters' ship was passing through the Straits of Messina between Italy and Sicily. . . . There is an old custom among the people in that part of the world that if they find a bottle with a letter in it, they mail it to the proper people. . . . It developed out of the old "letter-in-the-bottle" bit for shipwrecked sailors. . . .

The local naval officer, explaining that he was never shipwrecked nor ever expected to be, decided to follow the custom. . . . He zipped off a quick letter to his parents, secured it in a bottle and tossed it into the sea. . . .

Sure enough — the bottle was found. . . . Within a few days Mr. and Mrs. Walters were reading their son's chance delivered message. . . .

The back of Lt. Walters' envelope was pretty well covered with Italian writing. . . . It apparently was inscribed by its Italian finder who lives in Reggio, at the tip of the Italian boot. . . .

Mr. and Mrs. Walters plan to send a reply to the Italian address to express their thanks for forwarding of the letter. . . . For it was a happy message to receive. . . . It notified the parents that Lt. Walters' ship was homebound following a stop at Naples, Italy.

THE CIRCLEVILLE High School baseball team is getting a well deserved treat. . . . Team members and coaches left for the Queen City early today to watch the Cincinnati Redlegs play an afternoon game with the St. Louis Cardinals. . . .

Four 4-H adviser training meetings have been scheduled for May 8 and 9.

Two are for home economics advisers and two for agriculture advisers. The topic of the home economics meeting on May 8 will be clothing rules, procedures and new ideas. The home economics meeting on May 9 will be on food requirements and procedures at the Fair.

Agricultural advisers may attend either the May 8 or May 9 meeting. Both of the evening sessions will center around the same subject matter. Comments will be made on fair procedures, health rules, 4-H club programs, project selection, plus other topics.

Roundtown Mixing Bowls

By Joyce Ankrom

The sixth meeting of the Roundtown Mixing Bowls was called to order by Beth Smith.

All members were present. Pledges were given to the flags. The club will bake four dozen cookies for the Veterans Hospital. Pamphlets concerning health obtained from the city health department were read and discussed. The next meeting will be May 7.

Refreshments were served by Linda Hatfield.

Sew Straight Teenettes

By Loche MacKenzie

Sheryl Wood, vice president, called the fourth meeting to order on April 22, at the 4-H and Grange Building. A scripture reading by Linda Bowers and a prayer by Lynn Riskey followed the pledges to the flags.

After leading a couple of songs, Pam Speakman aided in an interesting demonstration on taking measurements given by Loche MacKenzie. This year's Junior Leaders were assigned the girls they are to help. The meeting then was turned over to Mrs. Wertman, adviser, who discussed camp dates and activities.

Refreshments were served by Sheril Wood, Pam Speakman and Loche MacKenzie. The next meeting of the club will be 7 p. m. May 14 in the 4-H and Grange Building.

Darby Flying Needles

By Jeanne Shannon

A demonstration on good grooming was given by Barbara Davis on April 25 at the Darby Flying Needles 4-H club meeting, held at the home of Cindy and Karen Liff. This meeting was the health meeting, Linda Vance, health leader, gave a quiz on things to do in order to enjoy good health.

Officers who participated in the training conference reported what they learned.

The next meeting will be May 6 at Darby Twp. School. This will be a safety session.

Future Farmers of Monroe

By Tommy Hamilton

The Future Farmers of Monroe held their regular meeting at Monroe School April 25. This was the safety meeting.

James Diltz, from the DuPont plant at Circleville, showed two films. One was "Artificial Respiration" and the other "The Unseen Harvesters".

Members of the club made safety posters and explained their importance to safety to their fellow club members. Safety leaders for the club are Timmy Hamilton and Barbara Tallman.

A tentative date of June 29 was made for a record hop to be held at Monroe School.

Ed Taylor was a guest for the evening. He reminded the club of the dates for 4-H camp. He told of SAFFLOWER production in the U. S. has climbed from 5,000 tons of seed in 1946 to 350,000 tons in 1962, according to Ohio State University Extension economists.

CONTRARY to popular belief, hay crops are not increased greatly by delayed cutting, say Ohio State University Extension agronomists.

THE 1963 WHEAT crop is expected to total 1,167 million bushels, based on current conditions. This would be an increase of seven per cent from last year.

OHIO WILL have 35 per cent more citizens to feed and 25 per cent fewer acres on which to produce the food needed in 1980, Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station economists report.

CARPET BEETLES will eat almost any animal product, including some dried foods, say Ohio State University Extension entomologists.

CLIMBING ROSES differ from other varieties in that the buds develop soon after flowering. This means you must prune right after flowering to avoid losing the flowers the following year.

FUNGICIDES can be used to control diseases on a number of crops. Some control one specific disease organism while other control many disease organisms on many crops.

THE 4-H PROGRAM is a youth activity of the Cooperative Extension Service, designed for boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 21.

PERENNIAL CROPS such as asparagus and rhubarb should be planted along one side of the garden where they will not interfere with cultivation later on.

WHEN DECIDING on a well site, locate it 50 to 100 feet from a septic tank, 25 to 50 feet from barnyards, and on an elevation higher than any source of contamination.

OHIO RANKS first in the U. S. in the value of production of greenhouse tomatoes, with almost three-fourths of the total.

Wheat Allotments To Be Less Regardless of Vote Outcome

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Regardless of the outcome of the national wheat referendum vote May 21, wheat growers can expect acreage allotments on their 1964 wheat crop to be 10 per cent less than this year, or about the same as in 1962.

Individual farm allotments are based on the national allotment, which has been set at 49.5 million acres for 1964. This is a reduction of 10 per cent from the 55 million acre national allotment in effect for the 1963 wheat crop.

In the past, farmers with allotments of 15 acres or less have been permitted to plant up to and including 15 acres of wheat for market without penalty. This year, in order to vote in the referendum, they must declare their intention to do so ahead of time, and by so doing they agree to participate in the program if the referendum passes.

There are about 120,311 farms in Ohio with allotments of 15 acres or less, compared to 29,912 with over 15 acre allotments.

LEGISLATION provides that the small farm allotment for 1964 will be the larger of (1) the average of wheat grown in 1959-60-61 reduced by 10 per cent, or (2) the 1963 acreage allotment reduced by 10 per cent.

The latter method is the same one used to determine 1964 allotments for farms with more than 15 acres of wheat. The use of the first method to calculate the 1964 allotment usually will increase the small farm wheat allotment, but generally, it will decrease the amount of wheat planted for harvest on Ohio farms.

If the referendum passes, farmers who comply with acreage allotments and marketing quotas will be eligible for price support, certificates, and diversion payments.

A yes vote in the referendum would mean that small allotment producers electing not to participate in the program could harvest a maximum acreage equal to their 1964 base (the average acreage grown in 1959-60-61) without penalty. But they would not be eligible for price support, wheat certificates or diversion payments. They could feed their wheat or sell it at the market price.

If the referendum fails, price support would be available only to producers who voluntarily comply with their allotment. But since there would be no marketing quotas, farmers could over plant their allotments without marketing quota penalties.

If the referendum fails, the price support would be 50 per cent of parity or about $1.25 nationally ($1.30 in Ohio). The market price, the economists say, is likely to average slightly less than the support price for the market year.

Farmers with allotments of 15 acres or less are reminded that they must return Form MQ24 to the County ASC office by May 13 or they cannot vote in the referendum May 21. They also indicate desire to participate in the program if a "yes" vote prevails.

Alert Is Sounded On Alfalfa Weevil

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

The alfalfa weevil is now hatching in Ohio alfalfa fields.

Farmers growing alfalfa in areas known to be infested should be on the lookout for this devastating insect. Where the weevil has been established for two or more years, serious injury can be expected. Loss of stand may be the result of severe attack.

This injurious pest is known to be present in 20 eastern counties of Ohio. Further spread to adjacent counties is expected this spring.

Limits of distribution may reach as far westward as Central Ohio. This insect is found in counties east of Pickaway. Farmers in this county should be on the lookout.

IF ALFALFA was not treated last fall, and it is necessary to treat now, malathion and methoxychlor will give acceptable control, says Dr. Robert Treece, researcher at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station. However it is necessary to apply the insecticide in at least 20 gallons of water per acre. This is more water than is normally used in forage insect control.

Research under way at the Station is aimed at finding the most suitable control measures. Dr. Treece reports preliminary work has shown that fall treatments of dieldrin and heptachlor are very effective. Further they have several advantages over sprays applied in May when the insects are active.

plied in May when the insects are active.

In May, treatments must be critically timed: sprays must be applied as soon as 50 per cent of the alfalfa stems show feeding injury.

Because the small green larvae feed very rapidly, the alfalfa must be closely watched. Even with proper timing and careful application, some injury will result and a second application may be necessary.

In contrast, the fall treatments may be applied any time during the month of October, either as sprays or granules. Such treatments give practically complete control as a bonus, are expected to give some reduction in spittlebug numbers the following spring.

Since, in areas where the weevil is established it is necessary to treat every year in order to grow alfalfa, it seems logical to use the fall treatment schedule.

Information on the biology of the alfalfa weevil can be obtained by requesting Leaflet 105 from the County Extension office. The office also can provide detailed control recommendations.

State Senator 'Amazes' Head Of Educators

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—T. G. O'Keefe, executive secretary of the Ohio Education Association, said today he was "shocked" and "amazed" at a state senator's charges that the OEA official is conducting a "pressure" lobby on state legislators.

O'Keefe also challenged the senator, Ross Pepple, R-Lima, to substantiate a charge that O'Keefe is making it "harder and harder for the friends of public schools to secure additional funds for their operation."

O'Keefe wrote a letter in answer to Sen. Pepple who had said he was "amazed that such a highly paid lobbyist as yourself (O'Keefe) would arrange such a pressure meeting" at the OEA sponsored April 9 in Veterans Memorial.

The OEA executive wrote that he was "amazed" that people "would question the basic American right of free assembly" by protesting the meeting, attended by 2,800 school officials and laymen.

Many Area Farmers Contribute To Goals of Soil Stewardship

Donald V. Archer, soil conservationist for Pickaway County, has called attention to Soil Stewardship Week that will begin May 19 and continue through May 26.

Archer reports it is gratifying to know that Pickaway County is privileged to have a large number of outstanding farmers and landowners who have carefully treated their land and conserved it. They have accepted the responsibilities that go with land use and ownership... they have rendered service to the county as a whole by demonstrating their respect and wise use of our priceless legacy of soil and water, he says.

Soil Stewardship had its beginning in 1946 when publishers of Farm and Ranch magazine suggested to the religious leaders of a few southern states that they set aside one Sunday each year to remind congregations of man's duty to be good stewards to the land.

So great was the response of ministers and laymen that observance of Soil Stewardship Sunday rapidly spread to other states. In 1954 the publishers suggested to the National Association of Soil Conservation Districts that wider observance of Soil Stewardship could aid materially in bringing about a national reawakening of man's obligation to the land.

The Association is the nationwide organization banding together the nearly 3,000 local Soil Conservation Districts, organized by the citizens of watersheds or counties, under provisions of their state laws, to get an effective conservation program applied to the land of America.

Each year since 1954, prior to Soil Stewardship Week, the Association prints and distributes to ministers, and others, a booklet pointing out the kinship between man's spiritual stature and the soil and water resources on which his life depends. This is compiled by the Association soil stewardship committee in cooperation with an advisory committee of national church leaders.

Fair Housing Bill Doomed In Assembly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A so-called fair housing bill is dead so far as the 1963 legislature is concerned.

Rep. C. Stewart Kitchen, R-Clark, said a subcommittee of the government operations committee of the Ohio House has decided any effort to put the measure into what he called "acceptable" form appears doomed.

The bill is designed to prohibit discrimination in housing against any person because of race, religion or color.

Kitchen said the difficulty lies in the wording to achieve the goal sought by the proponents.

The bill not only would have affected persons selling real estate but potential lenders of mortgage money. Neither seller nor lender would have had any choice in a real estate transaction except to sell or lend to the first individual who, financially capable, came forth as a potential buyer.

Kitchen, who heads a subcommittee studying the bill, said about half the Democratic members of the House have suggested to him that the measure be given at least another two years' study.

Small Business Office Readied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Programs and services of the Small Business Administration will be more readily available to small businessmen in the Columbus, Dayton and Cincinnati areas after next week.

C. R. Lanman, deputy administrator of the SBA, announced that a regional SBA office will be opened here Tuesday. Robert J. Coughlin of the Washington staff will serve as branch office manager.

John O'Brien, chief counsel for former Ohio Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy, now is regional counsel for the SBA in Ohio and Kentucky with offices in Cleveland.

WE TURN OUR EYES TO THE FUTURE

let for 1963, the committee says: "With each passing year, the pressures on our limited supply of resources are being compounded. More and more people each year put more and more of our resources to use. The demands increase for housing and highways, for food and fiber, for industrial and recreational space, and for all the other mounting needs of a growing society."

"Expansion and enlargement are by-words, and the end is not in sight. As good stewards, there is need to turn our eyes to the future, anticipating the requirements of tomorrow, in order that we may exercise intelligent guidance and put wisdom against waste... the answer to the question of the future lies in our understanding and action as God's stewards today."

Some outstanding examples of soil stewardship may be found in spots readily seen by travelers passing through the county. A fine example of effective surface drainage is shown on the farm of George Maxson, Saltercreek Twp.; farm ponds on the farm of Don Goodchild on Route 22 east of Circleville; and on the farm of Jim Fortney on Route 62 west of Harrisburg. There are many others.

AN EXAMPLE of a beautiful and functional waterway may be seen on the farm of Glenn Hay on Route 752 in Walnut Twp. Erosion control structure, using stone riprap for gully control and prevention may be seen on the Lamb farm on Route 104.

Labor Plans Demonstration In Capitol

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Representatives of organized labor are scheduled to demonstrate at the State Capitol May 15 to urge defeat of unemployment and workmen's compensation bills currently before the General Assembly.

Elmer F. Cope, secretary-treasurer of the Ohio AFL-CIO, said unions through Ohio have been urged to send delegations to demonstrate in opposition to the employer-backed bills.

He said the purpose of the demonstration is to "express the concern of the trade union movement over the threat to Ohio's unemployment and workmen's compensation systems."

The unemployment compensation bill, which has received House passage and is now under Senate consideration, would cut compensation $26 million a year to the unemployed, Cope asserted.

He claims that the workmen's compensation bill, which has passed the Senate, "contains many harsh features which would cut compensation to the worker injured on the job."

Muhlenberg Twp., illustrate control of runoff water to reduce erosion.

In Perry Twp. an example of wildlife planting, farm pond and diversions may be seen on the farm of Paul Peck. An extensive tree planting project has just been completed by George D. Horn, whose farm is in Saltercreek Twp.

An established wildlife area on the farm of Carl J. Smith in Pickaway Twp. gives an excellent illustration of conservation at work.

In Scioto township, a farm pond has been constructed by Ernest Bidwell. On the farm of Ross Bidwell are seen effective diversions.

AT THE Cole Nursery in Pickaway Twp., numerous conservation practices are in evidence, well illustrated by trees planted on contour.

Jay Hay, vice chairman of the district board of supervisors has installed a diversion, a gully control structure and grass waterway on his farm along Route 752 in Walnut township that will do an outstanding job of conserving the soil and water on his farm.

Archer said it is the sincere hope of district personnel that all county citizens will capture the spirit of soil stewardship to make our county fair and green.

No Big Romney Push Is Seen

GOP Chief Discounts Sherman-like Stands

WASHINGTON (AP)—William E. Miller, Republican national chairman, said today he knows of no concerted drive to boost Michigan Gov. George Romney for the 1964 presidential nomination.

"I'd say he is being considered as well as many other candidates," the New York congressman said in an interview.

Romney himself tried to quash rumors Thursday that friends are quietly putting him forward as the potential Republican candidate in 1964.

"I am not a candidate for president; I am not going to become one," Romney said again and again at a news conference.

The governor called in reporters to deny a story in the New York Times that he would be "quietly put forward" at a reception given here Thursday by Mrs. J. Willard Marriott, the Republican national committeewoman for the District of Columbia.

Romney would not go the way of Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman, a Civil War hero who declared in 1884 when boomed for the Republican nomination: "I am nominated, I will not accept; if elected, I will not serve."

"I am not a candidate for president," Romney repeated. "I am not going to become one."

He added: "I don't care what the timing is, six months from now or nine months from now, I will say the same thing."

Asked if Romney seemed available for a draft at the Republican convention in 1964, Miller said, "I don't think there is such a thing as a draft." And the GOP chairman added that he doubts Sherman-like statements apply these days.

Romney's case is no different from that of several other prominent Republicans, Miller said. "If any were selected they would run and be willing to serve," he said.

Miller likened Romney's situation to that of Republican Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania. Both took over states long held by Democrats and both have been spoken highly of by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, Miller said.

OU Plans To Increase Student Tuition Fees

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio University announced today that it will raise its tuition fees by $25 effective the start of the fall semester to $225 per semester.

The increase represents an addition of $20 to the registration fee and $5 to the student fee portion of the tuition.

Dr. Vernon R. Alden, president of Ohio U., also announced the start this fall of a $15 application fee. "Increased costs in the processing of thousands of applications make this fee necessary," Dr. Alden said.

State Senator 'Amazes' Head Of Educators

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—T. G. O'Keefe, executive secretary of the Ohio Education Association, said today he was "shocked" and "amazed" at a state senator's charges that the OEA official is conducting a "pressure" lobby on state legislators.

O'Keefe also challenged the senator, Ross Pepple, R-Lima, to substantiate a charge that O'Keefe is making it "harder and harder for the friends of public schools to secure additional funds for their operation."

O'Keefe wrote a letter in answer to Sen. Pepple who had said he was "amazed that such a highly paid lobbyist as yourself (O'Keefe) would arrange such a pressure meeting" at the OEA sponsored April 9 in Veterans Memorial.

The OEA executive wrote that he was "amazed" that people "would question the basic American right of free assembly" by protesting the meeting, attended by 2,800 school officials and laymen.

Many Area Farmers Contribute To Goals of Soil Stewardship

Donald V. Archer, soil conservationist for Pickaway County, has called attention to Soil Stewardship Week that will begin May 19 and continue through May 26.

Archer reports it is gratifying to know that Pickaway County is privileged to have a large number of outstanding farmers and landowners who have carefully treated their land and conserved it. They have accepted the responsibilities that go with land use and ownership... they have rendered service to the county as a whole by demonstrating their respect and wise use of our priceless legacy of soil and water, he says.

Soil Stewardship had its beginning in 1946 when publishers of Farm and Ranch magazine suggested to the religious leaders of a few southern states that they set aside one Sunday each year to remind congregations of man's duty to be good stewards to the land.

So great was the response of ministers and laymen that observance of Soil Stewardship Sunday rapidly spread to other states. In 1954 the publishers suggested to the National Association of Soil Conservation Districts that wider observance of Soil Stewardship could aid materially in bringing about a national reawakening of man's obligation to the land.

THE ASSOCIATION: accepted this offer and assumed responsibility for encouraging nationwide observance of Soil Stewardship Week.

TV Depends on Rating System Despite Washington Probers

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Television rating services may be under attack in Washington and elsewhere, but the networks are already girding for the rating war of 1963-64.

What would the television trade do without ratings? TV people wouldn't be able to gossip about who beat whom in the overnight rating, what show was in trouble with a puny share-of-audience and which one was saved by a 1.5 per cent rating rise.

Why, nobody would have known that "Beverly Hillsbillies" was the biggest thing in television, if the ratings hadn't said so!

It's safe to say that television will still rely on ratings, improve or not to determine the relying on such ordinary methods as human, aesthetic and entertainment values.

Next season shapes up as one of the most interesting rating wars in years. All three networks hits from the flops. No sense in are going all-out for victory, shuffle.

JFK Chuckles At Comment By Ohioan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The wife of an Ohio House Republican prompted a presidential chuckle at the recent White House reception for members of Congress.

"Where did you get that bachelor's button?" asked Mrs. William H. Ayres of Akron, noting the flower on President Kennedy's lapel.

She reported the president laughed and said:

"I always wear a boutonniere and someone gave me this one."

Rep. William E. Minshall, R-Ohio, suggests that current United States troubles with Cuba might never have arisen if the nation had heeded Thomas Jefferson 140 years ago.

Minshall quotes from a Jefferson letter to James Monroe in 1823, favoring the addition of Cuba as one of the United States.

"I have ever looked on Cuba as the most interesting addition which could ever be made to our system of States," Jefferson wrote.

"The control which, with Florida, this island would give us over the Gulf of Mexico and the countries and isthmus bordering on it, as well as all those whose water flow into it, would fill up the measure of our political well-being."

Minshall calls it one of those "ironic footnotes to history."

Waverly A-Plant Aides OK New 3-Year Pact

WAVERLY, Ohio (AP)—Union employees of the atomic energy plant near here have approved a new three-year contract with Goodyear Atomic Corp.

C. A. Romine, president of Local 3689 of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union, said the pact includes an eight-cent hourly pay boost in each of the next three years. The highest paid workers at the plant now receive $3.37 an hour.

fling schedules like a pinochle deck.

ABC is the most active shuffler, having disposed of nearly all of its 1962-63 programming. NBC is also offering a host of new shows.

Even CBS by far the winner of this season's rating derby, has decided to sit on its laurels. It has disposed of such reliables as "Dobie Gillis" and "The Real McCoys" to make way for fresh offerings.

Sunday night is always a prime battleground, and millions are being poured into next season's fight. CBS is sticking with Ed Sullivan in his traditional spot, preceding him with an out-of-this-world comedy, "My Favorite Martian." Judy Garland's songfest will follow Sullivan in an attempt to win over the "Bonanza" fan-ciers.

NBC continues with Walt Disney and "Bonanza," slipping Imogene Coca's "Grindl" between ABC has scheduled a whole new slate for Sunday night, including the Western, "Jam Phetters," and the 90-minute "Arrest and Trial" with Chuck Connors and Ben Gazzara.

The conference, which ends today, has featured various events of interest, including a reception on Thursday.

Ohio Money Manager Plans Simplified Finance Charts

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Finance Director Richard Krabach plans to take the mystery out of state financing for Ohioans in general and for officials and lawmakers in particular.

He expects to have simplified charts ready by July 1, start of the state's bookkeeping year, to show the monthly level of spending and income.

"The charts will show exactly where we stand without looking through hundreds of forms," Ohio's money manager explains. "And they will be readily understandable to the general public," he adds.

The attorney-accountant asserts that if such a simplified plan had been followed in recent years, "the state would not have run up a deficit — the cloth would have been cut to fit."

Two nationally-known accounting firms reported, after an audit of state funds, that Ohio was $83 million in the hole last Nov. 30.

The Republican administration of Gov. James A. Rhodes, who took over on Jan. 14, has been struggling to get finances in balance, Krabach asserts.

"From the charts, we can decide what programs we want to undertake and then go ahead in a businesslike manner," he predicts.

Krabach terms inaccurate and misleading assertion by House minority leader A. G. Lancione, D-Belmont, that more than $140 million in available funds were omitted from general appropriations approved by the House and awaiting Senate action.

Lancione voiced his assertions on the House floor during debate over the big money bill carrying $1.28 billion in general funds. On the basis of his figures, Democrats sought unsuccessfully to boost general appropriations by more than $117 million.

In his breakdown, Lancione contended that the appropriation bill failed to include: $25 million in advance utility excise taxes, $25 million available from liquor profits, $20 million income under-estimated by the governor, $25 million from a step-up in sales tax collections, $18 million from World War II bonus bond retirement funds, $15 million in federal funds for aid to dependent children of the unemployed (ADCU) and a $5 million carryover from the past biennium.

Krabach said the $35 million from advance utility excise tax payments does not belong in the operating budget because it is a one-shot "windfall."

He says the budget reflects $25 million in liquor profits allowed the state each year by common pleas court, which ordered all other monopoly profits applied to liquor bills unpaid by the previous administration.

And he says the budget also reflects an annual 3 per cent increase in sales tax revenue in line with the trend of recent years. He denies that income was under-estimated by the governor or that there was a $5 million carryover. Krabach asserts that "no one knows" how much federal money might be available for an ADCU program after its expected approval by the legislature.

And as for $18 million in bond surplus after all World War II bonus bonds are retired next December, Krabach shakes his head.

He explains that $1 million a month for bond retirement comes from sales tax revenues. The money will not be withdrawn for that purpose after full retirement, but will remain in the general fund which he says was taken into account, in drafting the budget. So there cannot be an extra $18 million there, he explains.

In fact, he adds, an estimated $7 million surplus remaining in the retirement fund next December was added to the budget, but ignored by Lancione.

Indicating that officials expect Ohio's financial clouds to brighten somewhat are plans for introduction of a capital improvements bill before the current legislative session adjourns.

Krabach expresses the hope that such a measure would carry about $7 million for necessary improvements at various state hospitals, prisons, universities and other sites. He stressed that little, if any, of the money would go for new construction.

The funds would be used for such things as new heating plants, roofs, wiring and similar major maintenance, he explains. Some of the money might be used by the natural resources department for dams, lakes, camps and erosion control.

Krabach says the money might become available from expected economies resulting from a survey of state operations by a "Little Hoover Commission," composed of management experts loaned by industrial firms. The finance chief says he wants to be ready if the funds are there.

A capital improvements bill, also called in additions and betterments measure, customarily carries a clause saying that such appropriations can be spent only if the money is available. The finance director makes such certifications.

The capital improvements bill of two years ago carried $11 million, exclusive of some emergency money, but only about $40,000 was spent because the cash was not available.

Pending requests for capital improvements exceed $300 million.

Use of Gun Under Debate

How Far Can Man Go To Protect Property?

CHICAGO (AP)—At what point may a citizen use a gun to protect his property?

A lively debate in Chicago on that question is posed by the case of Mario Fagnani, 32, a mechanical engineer.

Fagnani told police he woke early Sunday, and saw four youths pushing his car from the driveway of his West Side home. He snatched up a pistol, ran downstairs and fired.

Juan Figueroa 18, was shot in the left leg. He was carried away by his companions in another auto that police said had been stolen. For the shooting Fagnani was charged with reckless conduct. If convicted, he could face a maximum penalty of one year in prison or a $1,000 fine.

The charge was filed under a new Illinois Criminal Code adopted last year. Under the code a person may use force likely to cause great injury or death only if he reasonably believes such force is necessary to prevent the commission of a crime that carries the threat of violence.

Soon authorities began to express conflicting opinions.

Police Supt. O. W. Wilson said the code gives "added advantage to the criminal element," and dovetails with a nationwide trend in that direction.

Judge Richard B. Austin of the U.S. District Court, chairman of a committee of lawyers who drafted the code, defended it. He tossed a pencil on his desk and asked a reporter: "If you steal that pencil and run out of here, am I entitled to shoot you?"

Fagnani, free on $200 bond, will have a hearing May 14 in Boys Court.

Figueroa is in good condition in the City Jail's hospital. Charges against him will be determined when he recovers.

Figueroa's three companions were seized by police when they brought Figueroa to a hospital for emergency treatment. They are juveniles and will appear in Family Court on May 21.

French Agree To Pull All Troops from Algiers

ALGIERS (AP)—The dispute between Algeria and France over French nuclear tests in the Sahara has been eased by France's agreement to withdraw all its troops from its former territory by late 1964. The previous withdrawal date was July 1, 1965.

Nothing was said about French agreement to refrain from testing there. The French plan to build a testing base in their Pacific Island territory.

Which is best to use — one 100-watt light bulb or two 50-watt light bulbs?

Many people think the wattage of an incandescent light bulb indicates the amount of light the bulb will produce.

This is not so. Consumer specialists in the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Rural Electrification Administration say wattage indicates only the amount of electrical energy the bulb uses.

A 100-watt bulb gives more light than a 50 watt. But it may not necessarily give twice as much. In fact, a 100-watt usually throws out much more than twice the amount of light of a 50-watt bulb.

So, if you want to get the most light, use one bulb of large wattage rather than two smaller ones that add up to that wattage. Use one large bulb rather than two smaller ones providing, of course, distribution of light is not a problem.

Long-Life Light Bulbs: How do the new long-life bulbs compare with the customary kind? In the amount of light they give? In their life span? and their cost?

Consumer specialists in the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Rural Electrification Administration say the regular-type bulb is still your best bet — if you are looking for a good, inexpensive light source. The regular bulbs give more light for the amount of current used than the long-life bulbs.

The new bulbs have filaments that do not get as hot as those in regular bulbs. Consequently, they last longer but give less light.

A regular incandescent light bulb costs about 25 cents. During its lifetime (about 750 hours) it will use up to 6 times its original cost in electricity.

This ratio, the experts say, is better than that of the long-life bulbs which cost consumers more both to buy and to use.

To Make Batter Stick Better: Does your fried chicken have a nice crispy crust or does the coating come off during frying?

Food scientists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture say there's a trick to making the batter stick.

Instead of rolling the uncooked chicken in the batter, cook it first. Then dip the fried pieces in batter and fry them in deep fat just long enough to brown and cook the coating.

County Court Disposes of 48 Cases in April

Pickaway County Common Pleas Court disposed of 48 cases during April, according to a report released today by the Clerk of Courts office.

The large number of dispositions was due to the April meeting of the Pickaway County Grand Jury and dismissal of several divorce actions.

A breakdown of the closed cases showed that 30 were divorce actions, nine were other civil suits and nine were criminal matters.

Twenty-eight new cases were filed during the month, leaving a backlog of 57 divorces, 88 other civil suits and six criminal cases as the month ended.

TWENTY-THREE of the total cases disposed of were tried to court and only one was tried before a jury. Twenty-four cases were settled or dismissed.

Two traffic point system cases were also terminated by the court during April.

The Fourth District Court of Appeals had one new case filed with three pending, making a total of four pending action as the month ended.

Nursery Projects with Tape

BEANSTALK MEASURING ROD — Growing is fun when progress is marked on a beanstalk made of tape.

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

Ever try "painting" with tape? It can be done easily, colorfully, and effectively.

Taped pictures and designs are especially attractive in a child's room.

Want to tape a mural or picture? The kind of tape to use in this case is plastic, available in a rainbow assortment of shades.

It can be applied to create all sorts of designs.

Here are two suggestions.

For a beanstalk measuring stick that's practical as well as useful, use 1 1/2 inch wide brown plastic tape for the stalk. Cut the beans out of yellow plastic tape.

Fasten a cloth measuring tape down the center of the stalk, using a double-faced tape to secure it.

Use strips of white tape to mark off the height of the child — Mom can write the date on each strip.

Let your child tape the beans to the stalk, so that each time he grows, the stalk "grows", too!

Prefer a wall decoration of gay animals?

For pictures, the tape can be attached to cardboard or plywood or right to the wall.

Draw your design first, then tape it in, using colors that will go well with the room scheme.

Still another trick is to make pictures with iron-on tape, which is available in a wonderful array of colors.

There are countless tricks you can try with tape. Even beginners will have luck, for taping a picture takes a minimum of artistic skill. Just a little time and patience make a masterpiece for the nursery.

You can whip evaporated milk without adding lemon juice, but for more stability it should be added. Either way, pour the undiluted milk into a freezing tray until it gets mushy then whip rapidly. Evaporated milk triples in volume when whipped.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

Fair, dry weather and milder temperatures prevailed over Ohio Friday night and early this morning. At sunrise, most stations reported clear skies although thickening clouds dimmed the sun in extreme northwestern counties. Temperatures were some 10 degrees higher than Friday morning in many areas.

At sunrise, Zanesville was coolest with 44 degrees. Cincinnati reported 45, Marietta 46, Youngstown 52, and Toledo 55.

Mostly fair skies and warm temperatures are in store for southern and central sections of Ohio today. Cloudiness will increase in the north with some showers likely late in the afternoon and evening. Considerable cloudiness is expected over the state Sunday with some showers likely in the central and south.

Dear Abby:

No Curb on Godparents

DEAR ABBY: We asked a very nice childless couple to be godparents to our first child. They accepted and are apparently pleased. Now we would like them to be godparents to our second child but don't know if it is proper to ask them. Has a couple ever been godparents to more than one child in a family?

PROUD PARENTS
DEAR PARENTS: In some families all the children have the same godparents. The only "rule" governing choice of godparents is that they must be of the same religion in which the child is to be baptized.

DEAR ABBY: Is a woman justified in being embarrassed when her husband isn't polite to her in public? (I never expect it at home.) One night my arthritis was bothering me, and the waiter saw me struggling to get my coat on, so he helped me while my husband sat. He also runs ahead of me across the street in heavy traffic. When I ask him please to help me, he replies, "Who helps me?" He is always polite to strange ladies, helping them off the bus etc. We've been married many years and I should be used to it by now, but I'm not.

HURT
DEAR HURT: Your husband is inconsiderate, lacking in manners, and is cruel to boot. I can't change his behavior in one letter, and I doubt if you could do it in one lifetime.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please tell my parents what a "C" means? I got three "C's" on my report card and am on restriction because of it. I think a "C" is pretty good. I could have had all "D's" ON RESTRICTION

DEAR ON: A "C" IS pretty good for a student who can not do any better. I suspect you are capable of doing more "B" work. All "D's" are nothing to be ashamed of IF the student has worked up to his capacity to earn them.

DEAR ABBY: Experience teaches. I am experienced and would like to pass on some valuable information to all single females: "If you think you love a man, don't show it. If you want to marry the guy, never indicate it by word or action. Be aloof, untouchable and fun, but don't overdo trying to show him a good time. Fight off all his affectionate advances."

This may seem like a weird formula, but I know it works. Every man I have ever dated, and felt nothing for, has gone wild about me. The ones I could really care for don't give me a tumble because I didn't follow my own advice.

Aids Designed To Lighten Household Tasks

It's fun to take in the housewares departments and shops these days for there is always something new and intriguing. Today's housewares have lovely colors and are designed to ease housework chores.

We came upon something delightful the other day — a candy-striped mop that does the twist! It's practically the latest thing in eye-appeal and efficiency for cleaning day, as it virtually shakes itself clean via a sliding hand grip on the handle that whirls the mop, depositing collected dust in a paper bag or wastebasket.

This eliminates banging or shaking the mop out of a window, which is inconvenient anywhere and is actually illegal in some cities, which it should be everywhere.

Made of nylon string, the mop head can be safely washed by hand or machine in hot suds — and should be washed often, because a clean mop not only looks prettier, but has increased ability to attract and pick up dirt by magnetic action.

Another item in which we invested is a split-tip broom. The "split" bristles — made by a process called "flagging" — are designed to catch hold of every speck of dust on the floor.

This means, of course, that the bristles should be washed thoroughly after each session with the floor, because they catch dust the eye can't even see so it's hard to tell whether or not the broom is really clean. A dusty broom doesn't do much to clean a floor!

The only way to be sure is to dunk it up and down in suds and rinse water. Then shake off the excess water and hang this household treasure with bristles pointed down.

And take a look at the latest vinyl-coated wallpapers. They are simply marvelous, combining convenience, durability and good looks. They're easy to hang, too, because more and more patterns are pre-trimmed and some are even pre-pasted. Moreover, once the paper is up, all you will ever need to keep it clean are a sponge and thick soap or detergent suds. What could be easier, better or more economical?

DEAR ABBY: Experience teaches. I am experienced and would like to pass on some valuable information to all single females: "If you think you love a man, don't show it. If you want to marry the guy, never indicate it by word or action. Be aloof, untouchable and fun, but don't overdo trying to show him a good time. Fight off all his affectionate advances."

This may seem like a weird formula, but I know it works. Every man I have ever dated, and felt nothing for, has gone wild about me. The ones I could really care for don't give me a tumble because I didn't follow my own advice.

SECOND FRONT: The Pentagon is about to have a second Senate investigation of its contract awards on its hands.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., said Friday that the Preparedness subcommittee will look into the Defense Department's award of a research and development contract for a vertical takeoff and landing plane for the Navy. Stennis said the contract went to Bell Aerospace Co. "Despite the fact that the Department of the Navy, which was the service responsible for procurement, had recommended that the award go to Douglas Aircraft Co."

The investigations subcommittee headed by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., has been examining the Pentagon's award of the TFX warplane contract to the General Dynamics Corp. Air Force-Navy selection boards had recommended that the contract go to the Boeing Co.

SAVANNAH HEARINGS: Public hearings on future operating regulations for the N. S. Savannah have been scheduled by the Atomic Energy Commission for its Germantown, Md., headquarters May 17.

In the meantime, the AEC said Friday, the first U.S. nuclear-powered merchant ship will continue to operate under an amended operating authorization. The $53 million ship is to visit six American ports next month, then cruise to Europe this summer.

Following widespread rumors of operating difficulties aboard the new ship the AEC said on April 27 that "none of the problems which have arisen during the operations

Nursery Projects with Tape

BEANSTALK MEASURING ROD — Growing is fun when progress is marked on a beanstalk made of tape.

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

Ever try "painting" with tape? It can be done easily, colorfully, and effectively.

Taped pictures and designs are especially attractive in a child's room.

Want to tape a mural or picture? The kind of tape to use in this case is plastic, available in a rainbow assortment of shades.

It can be applied to create all sorts of designs.

Here are two suggestions.

For a beanstalk measuring stick that's practical as well as useful, use 1 1/2 inch wide brown plastic tape for the stalk. Cut the beans out of yellow plastic tape.

Fasten a cloth measuring tape down the center of the stalk, using a double-faced tape to secure it.

Use strips of white tape to mark off the height of the child — Mom can write the date on each strip.

Let your child tape the beans to the stalk, so that each time he grows, the stalk "grows", too!

Prefer a wall decoration of gay animals?

For pictures, the tape can be attached to cardboard or plywood or right to the wall.

Draw your design first, then tape it in, using colors that will go well with the room scheme.

Still another trick is to make pictures with iron-on tape, which is available in a wonderful array of colors.

There are countless tricks you can try with tape. Even beginners will have luck, for taping a picture takes a minimum of artistic skill. Just a little time and patience make a masterpiece for the nursery.

CATCHING UP—Back at office at the Truman Library in Independence, Mo., after a slight illness, former President Harry S. Truman is trying to catch up on a never-ending backlog of correspondence. His doctor has ordered him to cut down on his outside activities.

Ever stir a couple of tablespoons of cinnamon candies (the little red variety) into two cups of hot smooth applesauce? Pretty pink color and spicy flavor! Serve with pork chops, roast pork or ham.

Sliced oranges and thawed frozen raspberries make a delectable dessert combination. Top with a fluff of whipped cream and a little of the grated orange rind.

Aids Designed To Lighten Household Tasks

It's fun to take in the housewares departments and shops these days for there is always something new and intriguing. Today's housewares have lovely colors and are designed to ease housework chores.

We came upon something delightful the other day — a candy-striped mop that does the twist! It's practically the latest thing in eye-appeal and efficiency for cleaning day as it virtually shakes itself clean via a sliding hand grip on the handle that whirls the mop, depositing collected dust in a paper bag or wastebasket.

This eliminates banging or shaking the mop out of a window, which is inconvenient anywhere and is actually illegal in some cities, which it should be everywhere.

Made of nylon string, the mop head can be safely washed by hand or machine in hot suds — and should be washed often, because a clean mop not only looks prettier, but has increased ability to attract and pick up dirt by magnetic action.

Another item in which we invested is a split-tip broom. The "split" bristles — made by a process called "flagging" — are designed to catch hold of every speck of dust on the floor.

This means, of course, that the bristles should be washed thoroughly after each session with the floor, because they catch dust the eye can't even see so it's hard to tell whether or not the broom is really clean. A dusty broom doesn't do much to clean a floor!

The only way to be sure is to dunk it up and down in suds and rinse water. Then shake off the excess water and hang this household treasure with bristles pointed down.

And take a look at the latest vinyl-coated wallpapers. They are simply marvelous, combining convenience, durability and good looks. They're easy to hang, too, because more and more patterns are pre-trimmed and some are even pre-pasted. Moreover, once the paper is up, all you will ever need to keep it clean are a sponge and thick soap or detergent suds. What could be easier, better or more economical?

Today in Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
SECOND FRONT: The Pentagon is about to have a second Senate investigation of its contract awards on its hands.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., said Friday that the Preparedness subcommittee will look into the Defense Department's award of a research and development contract for a vertical takeoff and landing plane for the Navy. Stennis said the contract went to Bell Aerospace Co. "Despite the fact that the Department of the Navy, which was the service responsible for procurement, had recommended that the award go to Douglas Aircraft Co."

The investigations subcommittee headed by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., has been examining the Pentagon's award of the TFX warplane contract to the General Dynamics Corp. Air Force-Navy selection boards had recommended that the contract go to the Boeing Co.

SAVANNAH HEARINGS: Public hearings on future operating regulations for the N. Savannah have been scheduled by the Atomic Energy Commission for its Germantown, Md., headquarters May 17.

In the meantime, the AEC said Friday, the first U.S. nuclear-powered merchant ship will continue to operate under an amended operating authorization. The $53 million ship is to visit six American ports next month, then cruise to Europe this summer.

This used to be the President's prerogative, but, as I said at the beginning, everything goes by opposites these days."

"If you aren't careful," said Topsy, "you'll have me carrying Goldwater on both shoulders. It's enough to rock a feller."

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A MEMBER OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS of a big baking company staggered out of a meeting and called for the doctor. "It's my heart, I think," he gasped weakly. "Our Chairman just proposed a double-your-money-back guarantee on OUR cookies!"

"Minutes," the house organ of a nation-wide insurance company, has discovered a new language: "Realestate," which embodies the art of making the description of a house bear as little resemblance as possible to the real appearance of same.

A few prime examples:
Newly decorated: The owner has repaired the front door.

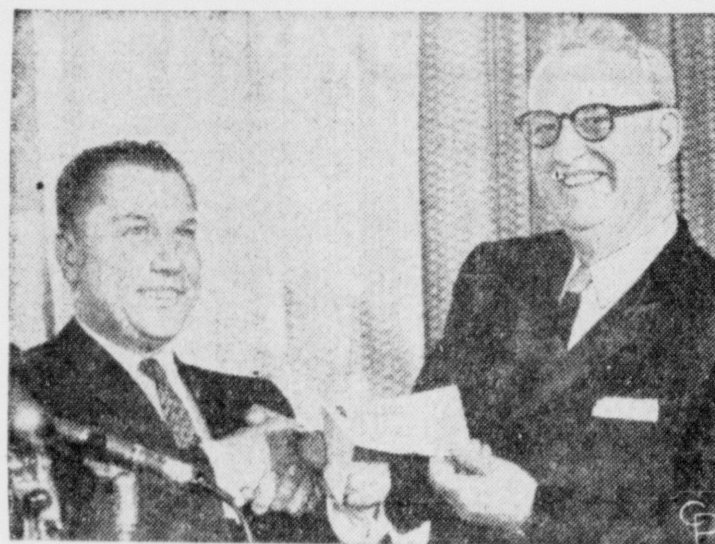

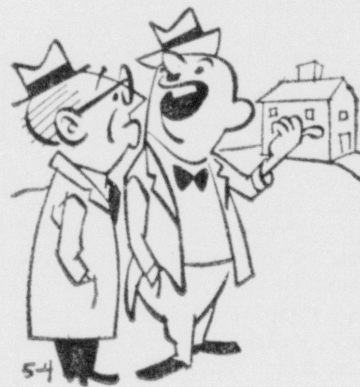

Needs slight additional decorating: The buyer had better not make any week-end plans for the next three years.

Charming cul-de-sac: Dead-end street behind a busy supermarket parking lot and a boys' schoolyard.

Magnificent view: The nearest bus stop is at least five miles away.

Prestige community: Two of the neighbors have maids. Only two left: There were three originally.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Are your shoes pretty and comfortable, or are they pretty uncomfortable?

It is remarkable how often our vanity selects ill-fitting shoes for us. It is said that about 80 per cent of all shoes worn in this country are not the proper size or shape for the feet that are wearing them.

Fortunately, American women no longer consider a small shoe size a special sign of distinction. The long foot, in fact, is so fashionable that one wonders at what point the pointed toe will ever end.

In order to serve the dictates of fashion, the American woman's toes are being pushed and pinched and bunched into the required place of pointed perfection. Is it any wonder that corns, bunions, ingrown toenails and blisters are run-of-the-mill foot problems?

As for those spindly, precarious heels, let us say they could hardly have been designed by an orthopedist!

Not only foot disorders, but backache and low-back strain can be avoided by the careful fitting of shoes.

"Doctor, think I've got sinus" is a common expression for a common complaint. But it is a common error.

Of course you have "sinus". Everybody has sinuses.

The sinuses are hollowed spaces in the head that are responsible for our resonance of speech. They also produce moistening agents and act like thermostats for cooling and warming the air for the body.

You have reason, of course, not to be glad when your sinuses are inflamed. This is properly called "sinusitis".

If you suspect that you have an inflammation of the sinuses, your doctor has techniques for relieving your discomfort and pain. "Sinusitis" sufferers are greatly benefited by early treatment.

The spinal column of man is composed of a series of bones called the vertebrae. Between each one of them there is a pad of cartilage.

These "discs" are remarkable in that they change and accommodate the spine to every motion, action or change of position of the body.

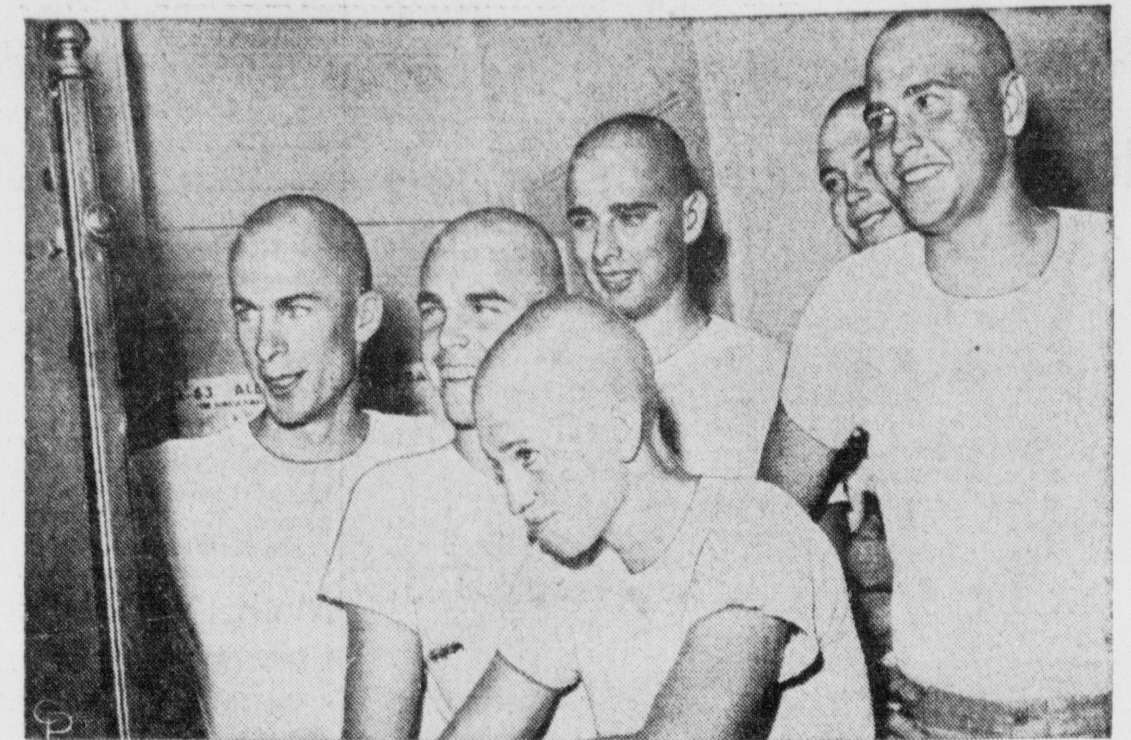

Occasionally, these pads of cartilage are forced out of their normal position by a strain or injury. It is a painful condition, and the pain is sometimes sent to areas of the body far removed from the actual site of the injury.

Neuro-surgeons and Orthopedic surgeons have made significant strides in the early diagnosis and treatment of these slipped discs.

Good health at work is just as vital as good health at home. Industrial plants have become more and more interested in health plans for their employees. They know that a healthy, happy employee is a productive one.

Sickness in industry accounts for the loss of four hundred million man-hours per year and the dollar loss is computed at nine billion.

Do you know what health services your own plant, office or institution provides? If not, find out about periodic medical examinations, treatment of injuries, care for its employees, there are great dividends both in health and in higher morale.

THEY DON'T WANT COEDS AT TEXAS A & M—Some of the freshmen at Texas A & M College in College Station who shaved their heads in protest against a new policy of admitting women to the college "admirer" themselves in a mirror. Four hours in the disciplinary "bull ring" failed to halt the fad. Happy 'Granddad of Gaming' Legendary in Reno Circles

By LEONARD J. SNYDER
Central Press Association
Correspondent

RENO, Nev. — He's known as the "Granddaddy of Gaming" and his name is Raymond I. Smith. He hit a jackpot on Feb. 23, 1935, the day Harolds Club opened its casino doors. The jackpot was the club, then a $500 "hole in the wall" investment; today a $25 million property that's reputedly the world's biggest gambling house.

Raymond I. Smith, who is 75, is the father of the club's namesake, Harold Smith Sr., who founded the casino he says "is bigger than Monte Carlo ever was." The elder Smith has been general manager of Harolds Club since its beginning and is given much of the credit for its success.

One indication of this success is a tax dispute between the club and the Internal Revenue Service now before the U. S. Tax Court.

The club claims a mistake by the government for the years 1952-1956. The main issue is the casino's claim that $2,370,442 it paid to "Granddaddy" over a five-year period should be deductible as "ordinary and necessary business expenses."

Not so, says the Internal Revenue Service, which allowed Harolds Club to deduct $100,000 a year for the five-year period of the compensation paid its general manager.

Yes, "Granddaddy" has done well, and his story certainly has an aura of Horatio Alger.

Ray Smith (not to be confused with his second son, Raymond A. Smith, vice president of Harolds Club) spent his boyhood on a 100-acre Vermont farm and at 14, was forced to quit high school to run the farm for his mother. When his mother sold the farm, Ray hit the road to make his fortune, mostly with picnic, fair and carnival jobs.

Ray ran a "wheel of fortune" and "when the people saw that they could win at my wheel I did a land office business. Before I knew it, I had actually cleared $25," Granddaddy recalls.

The lessons he learned at the carnivals, where he showed a flair for showmanship, paid off when the Smith family opened Harolds Club in Reno. Like any legitimate business — and that's what "wide open" gambling is in Nevada — Ray knew the value of advertising.

So Harolds ran a series of ads which ultimately blanketed the entire state through all of its newspapers. The theme was Nevada's history and, supported by research, the series portrayed incidents and legends which ultimately led to a statewide campaign of institutional road signs situated at sites of historical significance.

Raymond I. Smith—a very active Reno "legend."

Meanwhile, in 1941, the first road signs advertising Harolds Club were put up and a decade later thousands covered highways and byways from the tip of Florida to the Canadian border and across the nation from California to New York.

Harolds Club began to be known outside Nevada and hundreds of thousands who vacationed in "Sunny California" annually stopped at Reno and headed for Harolds Club to try and pay for their vacations by gambling winnings.

Many didn't of course, which explains why legalized gambling has flourished as it has. Not only with Nevada, either, since more than half the states in the nation have legal gambling, a surprising fact to many.

Six states, in fact, collect more taxes from legalized gambling annually than Nevada does. While Nevada's tax share is more than $10 million annually, New York's has been $96 million, California $38 million, Florida $26 million, New Jersey $25 million, Illinois $17 million and Massachusetts $14 million.

Most of the 31 states that have legalized gambling restrict it to horse, harness and dog racing in contrast to Nevada's wide-open policy where anyone can bet on anything. This probably accounts for the fact that more money is bet in Nevada than anywhere else—some $5 billion a year, according to some sources. In New York, the annual tax collected is based on bets of nearly $14 billion.

The heavy tax bite from gambling in Nevada, much of it from out-of-state gamblers, has eased the tax burden on Nevada's non-gamblers. While per capita personal income in the state is among the highest in the country, there are no corporate income or corporate franchise taxes, no personal income taxes, no inheritance, estate or gift taxes and no inventory taxes.

The only two major taxes in Nevada are personal property taxes, limited to $5 per assessed valuation, and a two per cent sales and use tax.

Gambling in Nevada was legalized in 1931, but it was a backroom industry until "Granddaddy", Smith and a few men like him blazed the trail that has made it flourish.

Nuxhall Hurls Shutout against Leading Cards

Cincinnati Is First To Complete Game With St. Lu as Foe

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Joe Nuxhall Friday night set down the high-flying St. Louis Cardinals 6-0 on five hits and didn't walk a man. Nuxhall, now 34, was the first pitcher to complete a game against the league-leading Cards all season.

The Pittsburgh Pirates closed to within a game of the Cards as they bombed the Los Angeles Dodgers 13-2, behind Al McBean's six-hit pitching. The San Francisco Giants also moved to within one game of the leaders, although they are percentage points back of the Pirates, with a 5-3 decision over the New York Mets on Willie Mays Night at the Polo Grounds.

In other National League games, the Chicago Cubs topped the Milwaukee Braves 10-7, and the Philadelphia Phils downed the Houston Colts 4-3.

In the American League, Kansas City downed Boston 3-1, Baltimore whipped Detroit 8-5, the New York Yankees edged Minnesota 4-3 in 10 innings, Washington defeated the Chicago White Sox 5-2 and Cleveland nipped the Los Angeles Angels 2-1.

Nuxhall, who had a 5-0 record last season after the Reds had accused him from San Diego, posted his first victory this year. Le Cardenas and rookie Pete Rose backed him with homers. Ernie Broglio took the loss for the Cards.

Bonus baby Bob Bailey banged a pair of homers and drove in five runs as the Pirates abused five Dodger pitchers. Larry Sherry, the starter, was the loser.

A crowd of 49,431, largest in the majors this year and the biggest the Mets have ever drawn for a single game, turned out for May Night. Willie, who tried very hard to hit a homer for the fans in the park where he burst to greatness, had to settle for a run-scoring double in four trips.

Jack Fisher held the Mets to six hits, two of them solo homers by Duke Snider, and won his own game with a two-run double. Snider also drove in the other Met run with a double.

Roy Sievers delivered a pinch-hit double with the bases loaded in the sixth inning to spark the Phillies victory. Howie Goss homered for the Colts, and the Houstonians thought that Carl Warwick did too, but the umpires ruled that Warwick's fifth-inning shot did not reach the seats despite heated arguments.

The Cubs smashed three homers, by Ron Santo Billy Williams and Ernie Banks, but a balk led to their run in the eighth inning that snapped a 7-7 tie.

Hank Aaron hit his ninth homer for the Braves.

Floyd-Sonny Rematch Is Delayed Again

NEW YORK (AP)—The heavyweight title rematch between champion Sonny Liston and ex-champ Floyd Patterson has been postponed again—this time from June 27 to July 22 in Las Vegas because of Patterson's ailing right hand.

The postponement was announced here early today by Al Bolan, vice president of the promoting Championship Sports Inc., who said Patterson would not be able to resume sparring for at least three weeks and perhaps a month.

"It took six stitches to close the incision necessary to remove an infected callous from Floyd's little finger," Bolan said. "Patterson had it done last week but didn't tell us anything about it until Wednesday. He still didn't think it was serious until a doctor told him he would be jeopardizing his hand if he resumed sparring right now."

Patterson apparently suffered the injury while working out at his Highland Mills, N.Y., camp although he hinted earlier in the week he had been bothered by the callous since he was in Florida in March. It became infected last week. The first newsman or the public knew about the ailment was Wednesday night, when Floyd turned up at a boxing show in Union City, N.J., at which his brother, Ray, was making his second professional fight.

Lebanon Driver Wins 3 Races at Inaugural

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—George Williams of Lebanon, behind Express Mahlon, drove his third winner Friday night in the featured $1,000 Invitational Trot Handicap as the 1963 spring meeting started at Lebanon Raceway. Express Mahlon, owned by Ralph Miller of Hamilton, Ohio, paid $280.00, $5.20 and $3.40. Hallie Cash returned $2.80 and $2.40 and Scotonia showed for $3.40. Williams' other winners were Shy Lady in the fourth and Betty Henley in the sixth.

Middie Cage King Eyes Grid Future

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—Basketball Coach Paul Walker will be following a pretty fair act this fall as he adds football to his cage chores at Middletown High School.

For the last 18 years highly-respected Glenn (Tiger) Ellison has been at the Middie pigskin helm. His unorthodox "Lonesome Polecat" and "Run and Shoot" offenses earned him a 127-45-7 record, the 1961 coach-of-the-year honors and an assistant job at Ohio State.

But Walker, in taking over football, isn't stepping into absolutely new territory. For 10 years, following his graduation from Western Kentucky in 1935 and through the 1944 campaign, his grid teams won 72, lost 17 and tied 3.

That figured out at an 808 percentage, just under the .811 he's compiled with a 473-110 record in basketball over a 28-year span. In becoming one of the few scholastic mentors doubling up in football and basketball, Walker faces a pleasant gridiron task. His son Paul, a passer de luxe, will be his first string quarterback—just as he was one of the aces on the 1962-63 cage team which went unbeaten through the regular season and won Paul the coach-of-the-year laurels for the third time in 10 years.

Walker's big fame, of course, has been won on the hardwoods where he has a record unmatched by any coach in Buckeye history. But he has some football ideas, too, and may integrate them with the left-over wide-open assault which Ellison has used so successfully.

Walker, president of the Ohio High School Basketball Coaches Association in 1951, 1952 and 1953, has been secretary-treasurer of the group since then. When he sounded off at a recent meeting relative to regional tournament officiating—which he didn't care for to any great degree—every-one listened.

His latest promise to bring about some changes in the whistle-blowing sector at future meets — but instead of being too irked by Paul's onslaught, the Southwest Ohio Basketball Officials' Association had him as an honored guest at their annual dinner a couple of weeks ago.

Paul's history is an interesting one. In his first year as a coach, at Hardinsburg, Ky., he started football and had a 5-4 campaign, along with 15-7 at basketball. Then he had 7-2 and 8-1 grid seasons at Hardinsburg, and moved to Morganfield, Ky., for a 6-4 campaign, three of the losses being by 7-6 scores. Then he moved to Anchorage, Ky., where in five years he had a 39-6 record along with 67-10 at basketball.

Ohio claimed him in 1944, as mentor of the Portsmouth High School Trojans where his grid team was unbeaten with a 7-0-3 mark and the cage squad went 16-8. The regular head coaches came back from the war the following year, so Paul was an assistant for one season before taking the Middletown berth in 1946.

At that Butler County powerhouse he won 13 of 17 district championships; was in the district finals 16 of 17 times, won even regional championships and grabbed five state titles—in 1947, 1952, 1953, 1956 and 1957.

He coached the Ohio all-star scholastic team against the Kentucky all-stars for 13 years, winning 18 and losing 8, and coached Ohio's Rebels to victory over the Yankees in the 1958 North-South all-senior game.

Walker has appeared at basketball clinics all over the country, and has coached at least seven all-state players — with Jerry Lucas his prize pupil.

Walker plans to handle his football team all the way this fall,

American Legion Jr. Baseball Six-Team League Organized

The Circleville American Legion Jr. Baseball squad will be a member of the newly formed six-team, South Central Ohio American Legion Jr. Baseball League.

The loop teams are from Mt. Sterling, Wilmington, Hillsboro, Greenfield and Washington C. H., it was announced yesterday by Lee Smith, publicity manager for the Circleville team.

All league games will be Sunday twin bills with the exception of the opening tilt, slated for May 30 at Ted Lewis Park. Washington C.H. will provide competition for the local team.

Games will be played on a home and home basis. The league schedule will actually consist of 20 tilts.

CHET IERY, manager of the Circleville team, plans to schedule several non-loop games during the season. The American Legion district baseball tournaments are to be completed by July 21.

Last year Circleville was the runnerup team in the district event.

Iery is currently conducting a campaign to sign up qualified baseballers interested in playing with the team this year. He intends to carry 18 players on the regular roster.

Any youth who is 19 years-old before Sept. 1 is not eligible. Players must be 18-year-old or less.

Every player in the county is meeting the age requirements may play with the local team.

Howard (Wink) Wellington and Ernest (Snap) Ankrom will be coaches for the Roundtowners. Any boy eligible under the National American Legion baseball rules to play baseball sponsored by a post in any community in which he lives shall not be eligible to play with a baseball team sponsored by a post in another community.

SHOULD a player wish to join another team he must first secure a written release from the team with which he played the prior year.

Any boy who asks for and does not receive a written release must be carried on that team's eligibility list for the entire season.

The tournaments will be played on a double elimination basis.

Big League Finances Told

Division of Gate Money Is Detailed

NEW YORK (AP)—The man in the stands knows the players and he knows the general scheme of major league baseball competition. But there are many items about the big leagues with which he may not be familiar.

The financial end, for example. How many fans know that a rule, in effect since 1887 stipulates that each player must leave a deposit of $30 on his uniform? The deposit is returned to the player at the end of the season. This rule hasn't been adhered to since the early 1920s.

How about the money that comes in at the gate? How much does the visiting club get?

In the National League, the visitors receive 28 1/2 cents for every paying customer, no matter how much the fan has paid at the box office. The league collects six cents on every admission.

In the American League there is a different system. The visiting team gets 20 cents for every fan who sits in the bleachers and 30 cents for every grandstand customer. The league collects six cents on every admission.

What are some of the incidental expenses connected with running a club?

Well, the Cleveland club, for example, spent $75,000 for railroad and plane fares last season. The Indians paid hotel bills totaling $61,625, exclusive of meals. Meal money, at $10 a day per man, came to $27,750. Players get meal money only when on the road.

Players receive no salary during spring training. The only recompense other than meal money is $25 a week for laundry and incidentals.

The player buys his own glove which he usually gets free by endorsement, but the club pays for his bats. Baseballs cost each club about $15,000 a year and bats come to around $2500.

Wednesday Night Loop Completes Bowling Season

The Wednesday Night Independent League at Prairie Lanes completed its season this week with the Courthouse Barber Shop winning the title with 87 points.

Elected officers of the loop for the coming year were Steve Brudzinski, president; Joe Ebbrecht, vice president; Paul Helwagen, secretary-treasurer.

The following persons won awards for top efforts: Mike Brown, high average for the season with 180; Bennie Huffer, high single game scratch, 265; Owen Pullen, high single game with handicap, 667; Owen Pullen, high series with handicap, 670.

Dwight Grubb earned the belt buckle award given by the American Bowling Congress for the most improved average. He added 13 pins to his average during the season.

High single team game was rolled by Black Label Beer on the final night of the league.

High team three-game series was rolled by the Courthouse Barber Shop with a 2986.

100,000 To See Colorful Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A small but banner field of sophomore racing stars, a crowd of 100,000 and summertime weather generated bubbling enthusiasm for the 89th running today of the tradition-steeped Kentucky Derby.

The nine 3-year-olds in the glamour race constituted the smallest field in six years, but most of the colts carried credentials to stir the racegoers' imagination.

Louisville an old Ohio River town of 400,000 plus, has been in a festive air all week while awaiting America's most talked-about horse race.

Brightly colored bunting fluttered from light standards and buildings in the downtown business district, hotels were jammed and visitors by the thousands descended on Derbytown.

At Churchill Downs, a 10-minute ride from downtown, preparations were made for crowds to match the turnout in 1946 and 1956, generally considered the biggest Derby audiences of all time.

"The Derby attendance always is 100,000," said Downs President Wathen Knebelkamp with a grin. Millions of home viewers could see the race at 4:30 p.m. EST on television (CBS).

The weatherman promised fair skies and temperatures near 80 by Derby post time.

Undefeated colts Candy Spots from the Rex Ellsworth stable and No Robbery from Greentree Stable along with Never Bend, the Cain Hoy sophomore who hasn't lost a race this year, were the early choices.

Most picked Candy Spots. But the three choices drew the 6th, 7th and 9th post positions, meaning they had to give some advantage to lesser-liked contestants for the $108,900 jackpot.

Others in the 134 mile race were Darby Dan's Chateaugay, Patrice Jacobs' Bonjour B.J. Rider's Royal Tower, Walnut Hill Farm's Gray Pet, Ambush Stable's On My Honor, and J. J. Cherock's surprise entry, the 100-to-1 shot Investor.

Nuxhall Hurls Shutout against Leading Cards

Cincinnati Is First To Complete Game With St. Lu as Foe

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Joe Nuxhall Friday night set down the high-flying St. Louis Cardinals 6-0 on five hits and didn't walk a man. Nuxhall, now 34, was the first pitcher to complete a game against the league-leading Cardinals all season. The Pittsburgh Pirates closed to within a game of the Cards as they bombed the Los Angeles Dodgers 13-2, behind Al McBean's six-hit pitching. The San Francisco Giants also moved to within one game of the leaders, although they are percentage points back of the Pirates, with a 5-3 decision over the New York Mets on Willie Mays' night at the Polo Grounds.

In other National League games, the Chicago Cubs topped the Milwaukee Braves 10-7, and the Philadelphia Phils downed the Houston Colts 4-3.

In the American League, Kansas City downed Boston 3-1, Baltimore whipped Detroit 8-5, the New York Yankees edged Minnesota 4-3 in 10 innings, Washington defeated the Chicago White Sox 5-2 and Cleveland nipped the Los Angeles Angels 2-1.

Nuxhall, who had a 5.0 record last season after the Reds had lured him from San Diego, posted his first victory this year. Loe Cardenas and rookie Pete Rose backed him with homers. Ernie Broglio took the loss for the Cards.

Bonus baby Bob Bailey banged a pair of homers and drove in five runs as the Pirates abused five Dodger pitchers. Larry Sherry, the starter, was the loser. A crowd of 49,431, largest in the majors this year and the biggest the Mets have ever drawn for a single game, turned out for May Night. Willie, who tried very hard to hit a homer for the fans in the park where he burst to greatness, had to settle for a run-scoring double in four trips.

Jack Fisher held the Mets to six hits, two of them solo homers by Duke Snider, and won his own game with a two-run double. Snider also drove in the other Met run with a double.

Roy Sievers delivered a pinch-hit double with the bases loaded in the sixth inning to spark the Phillies victory. Howie Goss homered for the Colts, and the Houston Astros thought that Carl Warwick did too, but the umpires ruled that Warwick's fifth-inning shot did not reach the seats despite heated arguments.

The Cubs smashed three homers, by Ron Santo, Billy Williams and Ernie Banks, but a balk led to their run in the eighth inning that snapped a 7-7 tie.

Hank Aaron hit his ninth homer for the Braves.

Floyd-Sonny Rematch Is Delayed Again

NEW YORK (AP)—The heavyweight title rematch between champion Sonny Liston and ex-champ Floyd Patterson has been postponed again—this time from June 27 to July 22 in Las Vegas because of Patterson's ailing right hand.

The postponement was announced here early today by Al Bolan, vice president of the promoting Championship Sports Inc., who said Patterson would not be able to resume sparring for at least three weeks and perhaps a month.

"It took six stitches to close the incision necessary to remove an infected callous from Floyd's little finger," Bolan said. "Patterson had it done last week but didn't tell us anything about it until Wednesday. He still didn't think it was serious until a doctor told him he would be jeopardizing his hand if he resumed sparring right now."

Patterson apparently suffered the injury while working out at his Highland Mills, N.Y., camp although he hinted earlier in the week he had been bothered by the callous since he was in Florida in March. It became infected last week. The first newsman or the public knew about the ailment was Wednesday night, when Floyd turned up at a boxing show in Union City, N.J., at which his brother, Ray, was making his second professional fight.

Lebanon Driver Wins 3 Races at Inaugural

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—George Williams of Lebanon, behind Express Mahlon, drove his first winner Friday night in the featured $1,000 Inaugural Trot Handicap as the 1963 spring meeting started at Lebanon Raceway. Express Mahlon, owned by Ralph Miller of Hamilton, Ohio, paid $280.00, $5.20 and $3.40. Hallie Cash returned $2.80 and $2.40 and Scotonia showed for $3.40. Williams' other winners were Shy Lady in the fourth and Betty Henley in the sixth.

Middie Cage King Eyes Grid Future

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—Basketball Coach Paul Walker will be following a pretty fair act this fall as he adds football to his cage chores at Middletown High School.

For the last 18 years highly-respected Glenn (Tiger) Ellison has been at the Middie piskin helm. His unorthodox "Lonesome Polecat" and "Run and Shoot" offenses earned him a 127-45-7 record, the 1961 coach-of-the-year honors and an assistant job at Ohio State.

But Walker, in taking over football, isn't stepping into absolutely new territory. For 10 years, following his graduation from Western Kentucky in 1935 and through the 1944 campaign, his grid teams won 72, lost 17 and tied 3.

That figured out at an 808 percentage, just under the .811 he compiled with a 473-110 record in basketball over a 28-year span. In becoming one of the few scholastic mentors doubling up in football and basketball, Walker faces a pleasant gridiron task. His son Paul, a passer de luxe, will be his first string quarterback—just as he was one of the aces on the 1962-63 cage team which went unbeaten through the regular season and won Paul the coach-of-the-year laurels for the third time in 10 years.

Walker's big fame, of course, has been won on the hardwoods where he has a record unmatched by any coach in Buckeye history. But he has some football ideas, too, and may intergrate them with the left-over wide-open assault which Ellison has used so successfully.

Walker, president of the Ohio High School Basketball Coaches Association in 1951, 1952 and 1953, has been secretary-treasurer of the group since then. When he sounded off at a recent meeting relative to regional tournament officiating—which he didn't care for to any great degree—every one listened.

His latest promise to bring about some changes in the whistle-blowing sector at future meets — but instead of being too irked by Paul's onslaught, the Southwest Ohio Basketball Officials' Association had him as an honored guest at their annual dinner a couple of weeks ago.

Paul's history is an interesting one. In his first year as a coach, at Hardinsburg, Ky., he started football and had a 5-4 campaign, along with 15-7 at basketball. Then he had 7-2 and 8-1 grid seasons at Hardinsburg, and moved to Morgantown, Ky., for a 6-4 campaign, three of the losses being by 7-6 scores. Then he moved to Anchorage, Ky., where in five years he had a 39-6 record along with 67-10 in basketball.

Ohio claimed him in 1944, as mentor of the Portsmouth High School Trojans where his grid team was unbeaten with a 7-0-3 mark and the cage squad went 16-8. The regular head coaches came back from the war the following year, so Paul was an assistant for one season before taking the Middletown berth in 1946.

At that Butler County powerhouse he won 13 of 17 district championships; was in the district finals 16 of 17 times, won even regional championships and grabbed five state titles—in 1947, 1952, 1953, 1956 and 1957.

He coached the Ohio all-star scholastic team against the Kentucky all-stars for 13 years, winning 18 and losing 8, and coached Ohio's Rebels to victory over the Yankees in the 1958 North-South all-senior game.

Walker has appeared at basketball clinics all over the country, and has coached at least seven all-state players — with Jerry Lucas his prize pupil.

Walker plans to handle his football team all the way this fall,

American Legion Jr. Baseball Six-Team League Organized

The Circleville American Legion Jr. Baseball squad will be a member of the newly formed six-team, South Central Ohio American Legion Jr. Baseball League.

The loop teams are from Mt. Sterling, Wilmington, Hillsboro, Greenfield and Washington C. H., it was announced yesterday by Lee Smith, publicity manager for the Circleville team.

All league games will be Sunday twin bills with the exception of the opening tilt, slated for May 30 at Ted Lewis Park, Washington C.H. will provide competition for the local team.

Games will be played on a home and home basis. The league schedule will actually consist of 20 tilts.

CHET IERY, manager of the Circleville team, plans to schedule several non-loop games during the season. The American Legion district baseball tournaments are to be completed by July 21.

Last year Circleville was the runnerup team in the district event.

Iery is currently conducting a campaign to sign up qualified baseballers interested in playing with the team this year. He intends to carry 18 players on the regular roster.

Any youth who is 19 years-old before Sept. 1 is not eligible. Players must be 18-year-old or less.

WCH Restaurateur Owns Prospect in SD Challenge Race

Ray Garrity of Washington C. H., Ohio is a man of few words, unless you happen to mention his favorite subject, harness racing.

Then the Fayette County restaurateur can spend hours telling you about his trotting and pacing champions of the past, present and future.

Just at the age when most men are looking forward to the leisure years after retirement, 66-year-old Garrity is excitedly looking forward to the coming night harness racing season at Scioto Downs, May 31. He particularly has his eye on July 13, the date of the Challenge Stakes 3-year-old trot at The Downs.

His Challenge Stakes eligible, Interloper, was an elimination heat winner in last year's Challenge Stakes, and reports from the Fayette County Fairgrounds, have the impressive three-year-old training in amazing fashion.

This young trotter is very aptly named. His sire is the great trotter, The Intruder, winner of 1956 Hambletonian. The dictionary defines the word interloper as, one who intrudes, and Garrity's brilliant youngster has a habit of doing just that. For the record, in 22 trips to the post last year, Interloper won five races, with four seconds, and two thirds. He cracked the 2:10 list as a two-year-old with his dazzling performance in the Challenge Stakes, a sizzling mile in 2:08 1-5.

Interloper and Garrity will be back at the racing wars this year looking for new worlds to conquer, and Garrity would like nothing better than to have the huge sterling silver Challenge Stakes trophy adorning a coveted spot in his restaurant at Washington C. H.

were sent into the mutuel machines on the fifth race.

less. Every player in the county is meeting the age requirements may play with the local team.

Howard (Wink) Wellington and Ernest (Snap) Ankrom will be coaches for the Roundtowners.

Any boy eligible under the National American Legion baseball rules to play baseball sponsored by a post in any community in which he lives shall not be eligible to play with a baseball team sponsored by a post in another community.

SHOULD A player wish to join another team he must first secure a written release from the team with which he played the prior year.

Any boy who asks for and does not receive a written release must be carried on that team's eligibility list for the entire season.

The tournaments will be played on a double elimination basis.

Big League Finances Told

Division of Gate Money Is Detailed

NEW YORK (AP)—The man in the stands knows the players and he knows the general scheme of major league baseball competition. But there are many items about the big leagues with which he may not be familiar.

The financial end, for example. How many fans know that a rule, in effect since 1887 stipulates that each player must leave a deposit of $30 on his uniform? The deposit is returned to the player at the end of the season. This rule hasn't been adhered to since the early 1920s.

How about the money that comes in at the gate? How much does the visiting club get?

In the National League, the visitors receive 28 1/2 cents for every paying customer, no matter how much the fan has paid at the box office. The league collects six cents on every admission.

In the American League there is a different system. The visiting team gets 20 cents for every fan who sits in the bleachers and 30 cents for every grandstand customer. The league collects six cents on every admission.

What are some of the incidental expenses connected with running a club?

Well, the Cleveland club, for example, spent $75,000 for railroad and plane fares last season. The Indians paid hotel bills totaling $61,625, exclusive of meals. Meal money, at $10 a day per man, came to $27,750. Players get meal money only when on the road.

Players receive no salary during spring training. The only recompense other than meal money is $25 a week for laundry and incidentals.

The player buys his own glove which he usually gets free by endorsement, but the club pays for his bats. Baseballs cost each club about $15,000 a year and bats come to around $25,000.

Wednesday Night Loop Completes Bowling Season

The Wednesday Night Independent League at Prairie Lanes completed its season this week with the Courthouse Barber Shop winning the title with 87 points.

Elected officers of the loop for the coming year were Steve Brudzinski, president; Joe Ebbrecht, vice president; Paul Helwage, secretary-treasurer.

The following persons won awards for top efforts: Mike Brown, high average for the season with 180; Bennie Huffer, high single game scratch, 265; Owen Fullen, high single game with handicap, 265; Bennie Huffer, high series, scratch, 667; Owen Fullen, high series with handicap, 670.

Dwight Grubb earned the belt buckle award given by the American Bowling Congress for the most improved average. He added 13 pins to his average during the season.

100,000 To See Colorful Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A small but banner field of sophomore racing stars, a crowd of 100,000 and summertime weather generated bubbling enthusiasm for the 89th running today of the tradition-steeped Kentucky Derby.

The nine 3-year-olds in the glamour race constituted the smallest field in six years, but most of the colts carried credentials to stir the racegoers' imagination.

Louisville an old Ohio River town of 400,000 plus, has been in a festive air all week while awaiting America's most talked-about horse race.

Brightly colored bunting fluttered from light standards and buildings in the downtown business district, hotels were jammed and visitors by the thousands descended on Derbytown.

At Churchill Downs, a 10-minute ride from downtown, preparations were made for crowds to match the turnout in 1946 and 1956, generally considered the biggest Derby audiences of all time.

"The Derby attendance always is 100,000," said Downs President Wathen Knebelkamp with a grin.

Millions of home viewers could see the race at 4:30 p.m. EST on television (CBS).

The weatherman promised fair skies and temperatures near 80 by Derby post time.

Undeclared candy spots from the Rex Ellsworth stable and No Robbery from Greentree Stable along with Never Bend, the Cain Hoy sophomore who hasn't lost a race this year, were the early choices.

Most picked Candy Spots. But the three choices drew the 6th, 7th and 9th post positions, meaning they had to give some advantage to lesser-liked contestants for the $108,900 jackpot.

Others in the 14 mile race were Darby Dan's Chateaugay, Patrice Jacobs' Bonjour B.J. Rider's Royal Tower, Walnut Hill Farm's Gray Pet, Ambush Stable's On My Honor, and J. J. Cherock's surprise entry, the 100-to-1 shot Investor.

Nicklaus Builds Up 5-Stroke Bulge

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—National Open champion Jack Nicklaus led the way into the third round of the $60,000 tournament of Champions desert golf classic Saturday with a lead of five or more strokes over his 26 rivals.

Possibly the chief nonconceder would be Arnold Palmer, the nearest threat to young Nicklaus, who said: "I feel I am playing good enough to win, but I haven't had any luck at all with my putting."

The picture, as play resumed at the par 36-72 Desert Inn Country Club: Nicklaus, 64-68-132; Palmer, 66-71-137; Bill Casper Jr., 70-69-139.

VFW Bowling Team Feted at Legion

Members and wives of the VFW bowling team of the Wednesday Night Independent Bowling League attended a banquet at the American Legion Post last night.

Trophies were presented to Irvin Smith, captain of the team; John Sterling, Harold Smith, Noble Barr, Russell Teets, Charles Sheppard and Dwight Grubb.

VFW commander effect Roy Tomlinson made the presentations.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of son and brother, Marion Dale Turner, who passed away May 4, 1963.
Your memory to me is a keepsake. With which I shall never part. Though God has you in His keeping, you will always be in my heart. The years may wipe out many things, but this they will never wipe out. The memory of those happy days. Which we have spent together.
Sadly missed by mother, Mrs. Rose Turner, and sisters, Mrs. Edward Joyce and Mrs. David Cockrell.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of son and brother, Marion Dale Turner, who passed away May 4, 1963.

Your memory to me is a keepsake. With which I shall never part. Though God had you in His keeping, you will always be in my heart. The years may wipe out many things, but this they will never wipe out. The memory of those happy days. Which we have spent together.

Sadly missed by mother, Mrs. Rose Turner, and sisters, Mrs. Edward Joyce and Mrs. David Cockrell.

NEW YORK (AP)—Television, which started its season at a mad gallop, has slowed its pace to a leisurely walk. During the next seven days there will not be any special evening programs enlivening the home screens.

True, there will be the running of the 89th Kentucky Derby broadcast on Saturday afternoon (4:5 EST) courtesy of CBS. And on Sunday (ABC, 3:30-4 p.m.) a new game show, "Take Two," will replace "Alumni Fun," a game show retired after 13 contests. But they are daytime programs.

"Show of the Week" on NBC Sunday night (9-10) will be a murder thriller, "Something to Hide" with Collen Dewhurst playing a lady publisher and Henry Jones her unhappy novelist husband.

"Close-Up" on ABC Tuesday (9:30-10) will be a short documentary on the Secret Service, particularly in the area of uncovering counterfeiting activities.

The 15th anniversary of Israel will be the subject of a CBS documentary on Wednesday (6:30-7:30 p.m.), including an interview with Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion.

Driver Hurt In Accident On Route 56

Frank G. Cahill, Route 4, was treated at Berger Hospital for minor injuries early today when his pickup truck went out of control and struck a utility pole.

The one-vehicle accident came at 2:10 a. m. on Route 56 five miles southeast of Circleville. According to a report by the State Highway Patrol, Cahill's vehicle traveled 615 feet down the highway on the right berm, skidded across the road and off the left side, striking the utility pole. The truck was demolished.

Authorities at the patrol post said the driver will be cited on charges of reckless operation.

Also scheduled to appear in court is Rodney R. Moss, Route 2. Involved in a two-car mishap on Route 23 three miles north of Circleville, he will be charged with backing the wrong way on a divided highway.

There were no injuries in the second accident, also investigated by the OSP.

2 Charges Face Canton Man

Murder Rap Hearings Slated for Monday

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Robert K. Damer, 43-year-old president of the Continental Mortgage Corp., will be arraigned Monday in Canton and Massillon municipal courts on two counts of first-degree murder.

The charges involve the death of a man whose charred body was found April 23 in a burning car owned by Damer. The man is believed to be an Akron fruit peddler, Howard Riddle, 54, according to deputies.

Damer also faces charges of forgery and making false statements to a federal agency.

The murder counts were filed Friday by Stark County Prosecutor Norman J. Putman after he received information from Dr. Lester Adelson assistant coroner of Cuyahoga County, indicating the man in the car was alive when the fire started.

In Canton, the charge was abduction resulting in death. Murder purposely and with deliberation was the accusation against Damer in Massillon.

Putman said information from Dr. Adelson, who is conducting an autopsy, disclosed that all scientific tests pointed to Riddle as the victim.

Akron authorities were able to establish that a key found in the burning car fits the lock of room 26 of an Akron motel where Riddle stayed prior to his disappearance April 20. A man's cap at the car scene also is similar to one owned by Riddle, authorities said.

Damer had been missing from his fashionable Canton home from April 1 until he surrendered April 26. He has been held without bond in Stark county jail for the federal grand jury in Cleveland on false statement charges. The details of the forgery accusation have not been made public.

Sales and Motor Vehicle Taxes Show Increase

Sales tax collections in Pickaway County are up $11,868.84 over the preceding year, according to a release from the office of John D. Herbert, treasurer of state.

The report lists collections for the current fiscal year at $233,606.12. Monies collected during a similar period a year ago were $221,737.28.

For the two-week period beginning April 14 and extending through April 27 the collections totaled $10,083.49.

Motor vehicle taxes collected for the present fiscal year are $175,937.68, according to the report. This is $29,479.27 more than was reported for a similar period a year ago.

For the two-week period ending April 27 collections were $11,008.86.

Thumb Injuries Head Berger List

Staff members at Berger Hospital yesterday administered emergency aid to three persons, with thumb injuries heading the list. All were released.

Tracey Spies, 21, Route 3, was working at a service station and cut his right forearm on a muffler pipe.

Thomas McCaffrey, 38, of Grove City, lacerated his right thumb on a metal band while unloading a crate.

Gem-Eating Dog Gives Up Jewels

PETERSBURG, Va. (AP)—Happy, the jewel-eating dog, gave up his diamonds and escaped the surgeon's knife.

Happy, a wire-haired terrier, swallowed the engagement, wedding and birthstone rings of his owner, Mrs. Gerald Kabobel, two weeks ago.

It took a veterinarian's X-rays to determine that Happy made off with the three rings.

The dog swallowed the rings when his owner and her husband, a Ft. Lee, Va., soldier whose home is in Saginaw Mich., left him behind when they went to work.

Happy got his first romp outside in two weeks after the rings were returned.

Northwest Ohio Farmers Warned of Leaf Beetle

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Department of Agriculture is warning Northwest Ohio farmers to be on the lookout for cucumber melon.

That's the scientific name for the cereal leaf beetle, a serious pest to cereal grains. The department says the insect, prevalent abroad, has invaded Indiana and Michigan and is spreading rapidly toward Northwestern Ohio.

Ceres is the largest of the minor planets. It has a diameter of about 427 miles.

Mexico Nabs Gun Smuggler

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexican authorities say the man who once sold Fidel Castro a yacht to invade Cuba was arrested at the International Airport while trying to smuggle Cuban arms into Mexico.

Customs officials said Antonio Conde, a 45-year-old Mexican citizen, was carrying a machine-gun, a shotgun, eight pistols and a roll of microfilm in his luggage when he arrived at the airport from Havana Friday. Mexican agents did not reveal the contents of the microfilm.

Conde was identified as the man who sold the yacht which Castro and a group of followers used to cross the Gulf of Mexico to the Cuban coast in 1956.

Conde's weapons, all Czechoslovakian-made, were concealed in a large double-bottomed valise. He said he was bringing them in because he collects sidearms and rifles.

3 Convicted Murderers Win Rhodes' Clemency

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes has commuted the sentences of three convicted murderers making them eligible for parole hearings in June.

All three had their sentences reduced from first-degree murder to second-degree.

They are George Colley and Thomas Richardson, both of Dayton, and Virgil Yankie of Mt. Union. Colley was sentenced in 1942 for the death of a man in a street fight, and Richardson in 1942 for slaying a man during a robbery. Yankie was sentenced in 1933 for the slaying of his wife.

Mace Records 4 More Wins At Brandywine

Local harness horse trainer and driver Jim Mace added four more wins to his streak this week at Brandywine Raceway in Wilmington, Del.

JIM MACE

His four wins Wednesday night gives him a total of seven first places for the early season. This places him one ahead of Stanley Dancer, one of the nation's top drivers, who has six wins.

Two of the Mace wins were paced by Nautilus and Sidney M., both owned by Frances and Michael Cloud of Ashville. Speed Limit, another pacer owned by the Clouds, also is being driven by Mace.

The best time posted by Mace this week was a 2:06 paced by Nautilus during a blowing snow that slowed things at Brandywine. Last week the Circleville driver guided Nautilus home in 2:04 4/5 for the fastest time of the night.

Driver Hurt In Accident On Route 56

Frank G. Cahill, Route 4, was treated at Berger Hospital for minor injuries early today when his pickup truck went out of control and struck a utility pole.

The one-vehicle accident came at 2:10 a. m. on Route 56 five miles southeast of Circleville.

According to a report by the State Highway Patrol, Cahill's vehicle traveled 615 feet down the highway on the right berm, skidded across the road and off the left side, striking the utility pole. The truck was demolished.

Authorities at the patrol post said the driver will be cited on charges of reckless operation.

Also scheduled to appear in court is Rodney R. Moss, Route 2. Involved in a two-car mishap on Route 23 three miles north of Circleville, he will be charged with backing the wrong way on a divided highway.

There were no injuries in the second accident, also investigated by the OSP.

2 Charges Face Canton Man

Murder Rap Hearings Slated for Monday

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Robert K. Domer, 43-year-old president of the Continental Mortgage Corp., will be arraigned Monday in Canton and Massillon municipal courts on two counts of first-degree murder.

The charges involve the death of a man whose charred body was found April 23 in a burning car owned by Domer. The man is believed to be an Akron fruit peddler, Howard Riddle, 54, according to deputies.

Domer also faces charges of forgery and making false statements to a federal agency.

The murder counts were filed Friday by Stark County Prosecutor Norman J. Putman after he received information from Dr. Lester Adelson assistant coroner of Cuyahoga County, indicating the man in the car was alive when the fire started.

In Canton, the charge was abduction resulting in death. Murder purposely and with deliberation was the accusation against Domer in Massillon.

Putman said information from Dr. Adelson, who is conducting an autopsy, disclosed that all scientific tests pointed to Riddle as the victim.

Akron authorities were able to establish that a key found in the burning car fits the lock of room 26 of an Akron motel where Riddle stayed prior to his disappearance April 20. A man's cap at the car scene also is similar to one owned by Riddle, authorities said.

Domer had been missing from his fashionable Canton home from April 1 until he surrendered April 26. He has been held without bond in Stark county jail for the federal grand jury in Cleveland on false statement charges. The details of the forgery accusation have not been made public.

Sales and Motor Vehicle Taxes Show Increase

Sales tax collections in Pickaway County are up $11,868.84 over the preceding year, according to a release from the office of John D. Herbert, treasurer of state.

The report lists collections for the current fiscal year at $233,606-12. Monies collected during a similar period a year ago were $221,737.28.

For the two-week period beginning April 14 and extending through April 27 the collections totaled $10,083.49.

Motor vehicle taxes collected for the present fiscal year are $175,937.68, according to the report. This is $29,479.27 more than was reported for a similar period a year ago.

For the two-week period ending April 27 collections were $11,008.86.

Five Points YTC Holds First Meet

The first meeting of the Five Points Youth Temperance Council was held Thursday at Monroe School with 11 members present.

Officers were elected as follows: Ginger Hosler, president; Buddy Blair, vice president; Joyce Davis, secretary; Cornelia Himelrick, treasurer; Linda Stubbs, news reporter; Brent Hanawalt and Judy Sparks, publicity committee; Sue Sheets, Jim Armentrout, Jim Davis, and Janet Davis, ways and means committee. Plans are being made for money-making projects. Our present goal is to raise enough money to be able to pay all our members' fees for the summer camp held at Wittenberg University.

The date for the next meeting will be announced.

It marks the second car recovered by the department in the county this week. Both vehicles were owned by Columbus residents and both were convertibles.

Staff members at Berger Hospital yesterday administered emergency aid to three persons, with thumb injuries heading the list. All were released.

Tracey Spire, 21, Route 3, was working at a service station and cut his right forearm on a muffler pipe.

Thomas McCaffrey, 38, of Grove City, lacerated his right thumb on a metal band while unloading a crate.

Gem-Eating Dog Gives Up Jewels

PETERSBURG, Va. (AP)—Happy, the jewel-eating dog, gave up his diamonds and escaped the surgeon's knife.

Happy, a wire-haired terrier, swallowed the engagement, wedding and birthstone rings of his owner, Mrs. Gerald Kabobel, two weeks ago.

It took a veterinarian's X-rays to determine that Happy made off with the three rings.

The dog swallowed the rings when his owner and her husband, a Ft. Lee, Va., soldier whose home is in Saginaw Mich., left him behind when they went to work.

Happy got his first romp outside in two weeks after the rings were returned.

Northwest Ohio Farmers Warned of Leaf Beetle

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Department of Agriculture is warning Northwest Ohio farmers to be on the lookout for olerema melanpa.

That's the scientific name for the cereal leaf beetle, a serious pest to cereal grains. The department says the insect, prevalent abroad, has invaded Indiana and Michigan and is spreading rapidly toward Northwestern Ohio.

Ceres is the largest of the minor planets. It has a diameter of about 427 miles.

Mexico Nabs Gun Smuggler

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexican authorities say the man who once sold Fidel Castro a yacht to invade Cuba was arrested at the International Airport while trying to smuggle Cuban arms into Mexico.

Customs officials said Antonio Conde, a 45-year-old Mexican citizen, was carrying a machine-gun, a shotgun, eight pistols and a roll of microfilm in his luggage when he arrived at the airport from Havana Friday. Mexican agents did not reveal the contents of the microfilm.

Conde was identified as the man who sold the yacht which Castro and a group of followers used to cross the Gulf of Mexico to the Cuban coast in 1956.

Conde's weapons, all Czechoslovakian-made, were concealed in a large double-bottomed valise. He said he was bringing them in because he collects sidearms and rifles.

3 Convicted Murderers Win Rhodes' Clemency

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes has commuted the sentences of three convicted murderers making them eligible for parole hearings in June.

All three had their sentences reduced from first-degree murder to second-degree.

They are George Colley and Thomas Richardson, both of Dayton, and Virgil Yankee of Mt. Union. Colley was sentenced in 1942 for the death of a man in a street fight, and Richardson in 1942 for slaying a man during a robbery. Yankee was sentenced in 1933 for the slaying of his wife.
